Says Severest Test Was Storm Off St. George N. F.—Says Eskimo Flappers Haven't Bobbed Hair Yet—Glaciers Advancing Southward—Radio Worked Well

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 15.—Captain Donald Baxter MacMillan, who brought his sturdy Arctic explorer, the Bowdoin, to anchor in this port late last night, reported that the severest test both for his vessel and his men was a storm encountered off St. George N. F., Sunday night. Then, launching into a tale of his 15 months' sojourn in the far north, in northern Greenland and Ellesmere Land, Captain MacMillan described Eskimo flappers and white Indians, told about his first civilized meal ashore, and told of the difficulties and peculiarities of radio transmission in the north. Glaciers are advancing southward, the MacMillan party hinted.

Wool men from all over New England, affiliated with the Boston Wool Trade association, are at the Vesper Country club today for their annual outing. Between 450 and 500 men arrived at the club this forenoon to make the outing the largest ever held by the organization.

The program of the day included golf in the forenoon for all members, and a buffet luncheon between 1 and 3 o'clock, with a baseball game and other sports on the afternoon end. The importation of a number of the fastest whippets in the world made a series of races between them one of the feature events of the outing program.

The Boston members of the association brought along a band to provide music during the luncheon hour and a splendid concert resulted.

Among the association officers, prominent among the speakers were Frank F. Montgomery of Boston, chairman of the reception committee.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and how she was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. "My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."

—Mrs. GRS. VOGEL, 6608 Pelozo St.,
Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Help to Mothers of Young Children

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the neatishness and irritability of babies.
The modern mother does not resort to so-called soothing drugs but corrects the trouble by sweetening the little stomach and giving a gentle laxative that acts without griping. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets, easy to take and guaranteed to be free from opiates or narcotics.
Every mother who tries Baby's Own Tablets becomes enthusiastic about them. Mrs. Oscar Auger, of No. 12
Hamilton street, Holyoke, Mass., says:
"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and think them a splendid medicine for constipation and other ailments that affect little ones. I am glad to recommend them to other mothers and know that they will be pleased with

STEPHEN ABBOTT DEAD

Well Known Business Man
Died Suddenly Yesterday
In His Office

Stephen W. Abbott, president and treasurer of the Burnham & Davis Lumber Co., and widely known business man, died suddenly in his office in Western avenue shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He succumbed to a heart attack. His age was 66 years and his home was at 34 Princeton street. It was just prior to 5 o'clock that office assistants noticed he had fallen forward in his chair and hurriedly summoned a physician, but before he reached there Mr. Abbott had died.

Practically all of Mr. Abbott's life had been spent in the lumber business. He came to Lowell in 1896 as a foreman for the firm of Burnham, Forrest & Davis. He was later made manager of the company and on the death of Mr. Burnham became a half owner, through the purchase of the Burnham stock. Mr. Abbott was made president in the process of reorganization and Mr. Davis, treasurer. In May, 1919, Mr. Davis died and Mr. Abbott became sole owner.

Mr. Abbott was born in Somerville, N. H., Feb. 27, 1858. Most of his boyhood was spent on a farm in Albion, Me. When 20 years of age he went to Dover, N. H., and had his first taste of lumber yard work with the firm of Converse & Hobbs.

In 1882 Mr. Abbott went to North Carolina with Mr. Hobbs and formed the New Market Lumber Co. Three years later he returned north and was associated with a number of lumber enterprises in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. It was while working as foreman for J. F. Paul Co. in Boston that he received the offer to come to Lowell.

Mr. Abbott was a director of the Lowell Co-operative bank, a member of the Lowell chamber of commerce and the Highland club.

He is survived by his wife, Abbie M., a daughter, Mrs. Edgar H. Douglas, a brother, Ashmun R. Abbott of Albion, Me., and three grandchildren, Ellinor M., Phyllis W. and Stephen A. Douglas, all of this city.

Perjury Trial Is Halted

Frank D. Thompson ordered her to say whether she accompanied Walter V. Phelps, the plaintiff in the suit, to the Pacific coast and whether she had been visiting relatives in Massachusetts. It is upon this testimony the judge ordered a bench warrant issued on the perjury charges. Judge Thompson at that time held that as Mrs. Phelps had answered other questions along similar lines she had automatically waived her constitutional rights.

Judge Frank L. Fish, of Verkenes, presiding at the present trial, asked the former trial and she had supposed the correct method of the witness would have been to refuse to answer at the judge's direction, allow herself to be taken into custody whereupon that question could have been determined by habeas corpus proceedings. Mr. Scaryes answered that it was not right to expect a witness to know the intricacies of the law or what might not be done in such a situation. He declared it as his belief that court in reaching its decision on the waiver would have to confine itself to the information which the arrest and the trial is based. The information details certain parts of Mrs. Wood's testimony but not all of it. The fight is to get all the testimony before the jury.

Court took a premature recess during which the authorities were submitted to Judge Fish for consideration. In reaching a ruling on the objection. The jury was completed after court opened at 2 o'clock.

PACT OF ARBITRATION AND SECURITY

GENEVA, Sept. 16. (By the Associated Press.)—Interant (this forenoon in Geneva centered in a meeting of a sub-committee of the disarmament commission of the League of Nations assembly at which Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia was to present his carefully elaborated draft pact of arbitration and security.

The draft continues the outlines of a document which, in the form of a resolution, protocol or treaty, is to form the basis for the convocation of a disarmament conference after it has been signed or ratified by enough powers to assure that security without which any disarmament conference, it is felt, would be doomed to failure.

The progress made in settling the French and British viewpoints on the Dr. Benes' conciliatory manipulating is felt to be so considerable as to warrant the belief that whatever objections may be brought forward by the British, Scandinavian or South American members of the sub-committee will be speedily ironed out and their helpful suggestions rapidly incorporated in the document being formulated.

FAIRBURN'S CLERKS PLAN BIG OUTING

If you happen to be in Fairburn's market Friday or Saturday this week and notice the clerks reading the weather reports in The Sun, do not be alarmed for they are praying for fair weather on Sunday next. On that day, starting at 9:30 in the morning, the employees of Fairburn's market will start off on an all-day trip to White Mountain. It is being sponsored by Fairburn's Market Employees Mutual Benefit association. Over 60 people, in 10 or more machines, will make the trip and an all-day good time is assured. No definite point is to be reached, but the machines will travel as far north as possible. The idea to take in as much of our beautiful New England scenery as possible. A stop will be made around noon to drop off at some picturesque spot, a short distance from the highway, where all will sit down in the open to a specially prepared lunch, put up at Fairburn's restaurant. Then sports will be run off under the direction of James Creegan, chairman of the sports and entertainment committee. The buffet lunch is in charge of Miss Catherine O'Connell, while the transportation problem has been excellently prepared for by Dennis Cronin, James Stapleton, manager of the market and president of the E.M.B.A., is general chairman of the party, and has about completed plans for a most enjoyable outing. Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fairburn are to be the honored guests of the day.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—While Germany has not opened formal negotiations for the $200,000,000 international loan which forms the basis of the Dawes plan, rapid progress has been made by bankers in setting up machinery for its flotation. By clearing up all technical questions regarding coupon rates, maturities, interest yielded, offering prices, sinking fund stipulation and amortization features, the banks hope to place the loan on the market soon after Germany submits its request.

A slight shift in the movement of capital which has been headed toward New York for many months, is seen in the financial district. Definite trends in other directions have resulted from the call made on American by European governments and industries, and demands from western states for crop moving purposes. The volume of outgrowing funds, however, has not been heavy enough to alter the general money situation in Wall street.

Lowell Made Goods Exhibited in Local Stores

cluding the A. G. Pollard Co., The Chaffoux store and the Bon Marche, have windows displaying various exhibits of Lowell-made goods lavishly. Other local emporiums such as the 20th Century Shoe store, the Walcott Shoe store, the Robertson Furniture Co., the A. E. O'Brien, Dickerson and McQuade and the Macartney company have excellent and most attractive displays of Lowell-made merchandise and New England-made products also in wide range of varieties and desirability.

Displays of the larger stores containing displays of cotton goods, toweling, corduroys, stockings, underwear, percales, knit goods, blankets, draperies, scarfs, wash cloths, woolen and worsted cloths, etc., all manufactured in Lowell textile mills and all with branded names that are shown on the tags labelling the products displayed in the store windows.

Among the large textile corporations doing nobly in providing for these window displays are the Boot mills, Shaw Hosiery, Brown's Hosiery, Tremont and Suffolk mills, Appleton company, Massachusetts mills, Lawrence manufacturing company, Merrimack company, Lyon Carpet company, Hamilton company, Waterhead mills, Pacific mills of Lawrence is also exhibiting some of its finest textile products in Lowell department stores this week.

In many stores, the managements have gathered together, under one banner, so to speak, the visible evidence of the wide scope of New England manufactures. It is a demonstration to inspire every Lowell inhabitant—a revelation of Lowell quality, a proof of Lowell and New England progress, a guarantee of Lowell and New England prosperity.

The merchants of the city invite the public at large to visit their places of merchandising any day this week and inspect the wonderfully attractive displays that are proving a revelation in many respects. They show that Lowell is still today, as it has been in the past, not only one of the leading textile production communities of New England, but today producing a wide variety of other merchandise in great demand in many parts of the world.

What the "England Week" is precisely what the proclamation states: "A week set apart for the display of the products on which the prosperity of New England depends; to illustrate to New England's own people the beauty and utility of the products of the industries of New England, and to demonstrate to the world beyond the New England borders how have earned for New England her lasting fame."

The people of New England are this week seeing with their own eyes the marvelous variety of New England products and the enormous magnitude of New England's output. Merchants and manufacturers are displaying ev-

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

AVOIDING COLDS

"Obey the ordinary rule of hygiene if you would avoid a cold," recommended the Mann family doctor. "Except where nasal defects exist there should be no trouble with recurring colds if a person is living hygienically."

Here are a few points that might be written down and remembered in this connection: Most people realize that exposure and chilling are likely to produce colds. This is due to a disturbance of circulation brought about through the nerve centres controlling skin circulation.

tion which are over-sensitive and feel an immediate reaction.

Now if the skin is put in good shape there is a good chance of overcoming this. Bathing in cool water, with its accompanying reaction, will help build up skin resistance. Getting gradually accustomed to gentle drafts also will help.

Another stunt is to stand in a foot of hot water and rub the body briskly with a good rough washcloth that has been wrung out in water of a temperature of 59 degrees.

Each day reduce the temperature of the water until it reaches 50 degrees. After the rubdown dash cool water on the body.

"My case has been given up as hopeless, so I do not hesitate to give Tanlac credit for saving my life," is the far-reaching statement of Mrs. Leubelle R. Harding, esteemed resident of 22 Lynwood St., Brookville, Mass. "Furthermore," she continued, "Tanlac did not stop at saving my life, for it increased my weight from 97 lbs. to 132 lbs. and left me enjoying the best of health."

"Five years ago, while living in Seattle, Wash., I was taken so ill that no one thought I could live. Complications resulting from stomach trouble brought me down to my bed and I could not even walk two steps. In fact I was so far gone that I thought my end had come and I even went to far as to bid my husband and children good-bye. Nobody will ever know what I went through, for words just simply cannot describe it."

"One day, after I had been in bed six weeks, my husband brought me a bottle of Tanlac. I finished this bottle feeling so better, so I got more and kept on improving until I had used 10 bottles and then I was a well and happy woman. My recovery was so miraculous as to astonish those who knew how bad off I was. I am now enjoying the best of health and while I am 69 I really don't feel over 40. I will be glad to have anyone, who is looking for something to bring back their health, call on me or write me. To me Tanlac is the grandest thing in the world."

The First Telephone and Some of Its Successors

New England and the Telephone

THE telephone was born in Boston, was sponsored by New England brains and New England capital, and from this corner of the United States started out on its world-wide career.

As an agency of distribution, our service ranks with that of the railroads. Every business man is concerned quite as deeply with the problem of distribution as he is with the problem of manufacturing.

We believe we are of service in helping to bring to New England the raw material necessary to its factories, and in helping to distribute the finished products not only throughout New England, but to all quarters of the world.

Telephone service means to us the completion of 5,000,000 calls per day right here in New England. It is our desire to handle this immense volume of business expeditiously and correctly. To do this requires not merely adequate equipment maintained to a high standard of perfection, but also individual team play of the highest order by 25,000 employees.

We are preparing to play a larger part in the advancement of New England and the development of its enterprises.

N. E. CAN LOOK TO FUTURE OF ITS COMMERCE WITH CONFIDENCE

Dr. Klein Says Every State In New England Showed Substantial Increase in Exports for Second Quarter of 1924—Totalled $90,000,000

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Each one of the New England states showed a substantial increase in the value of foreign shipments for the second quarter of 1924 over the earlier months of the year. Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, said in an address last night at the convention of the Order of New England Workers in Mechanic building. The meeting was held as part of the program of New England week, a movement to present New England products to New England people.

Quoting hitherto unpublished figures, Dr. Klein said that New England exports amounted to $90,000,000 for six months ending June 30. Massachusetts, he said, increased its export trade for the second three months of 1924 over the preceding three months by $2,885,722; Connecticut by $10,403; Maine by $52,800; Rhode Island by $152,155; New Hampshire by $305,413; and Vermont by $130,217, a total increase for six states of over $5,230,000.

"New England can look to the future of its commerce with confidence," declared Dr. Klein, speaking on behalf of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, whose personal greetings he brought to the "All New England Week Convention" in support of this optimistic view. Dr. Klein not only cited recent trade figures, which showed the value of New England exports to be increasing, but emphasized the significance of stabilized conditions in Western states and the importance of European economic recovery.

"While New England may find inspiration in looking backward to a past filled with brilliant achievements in industry and commerce, I believe she can turn her eyes to the future with a fine confidence in equally brilliant achievements to come," declared Dr. Klein. "The stabilization of conditions in the agricultural sections of the west is already reacting favorably upon the New England trade in manufactured products. It has been estimated that the purchasing power of the western farmer will be increased this year by approximately a billion dollars. This money will not be hoarded. It will be used to replenish stocks, to make improvements and extensions, to back new enterprise, and however it is used there will be a demand for products made in this section. But New England cannot wait for this new business to come to her. New England's good name and her good will are great in of silver ware; $7 per cent. of sundries, carter and elastic webbing; and $8 per cent. of combs and hairpins. While some of these commodities are not in prominent places in export figures they are, nevertheless, important in the domestic market.

Exports Am-Brit to $90,000,000

"New England exports amounted to $90,000,000 for the six months ending June 30," stated Dr. Klein, citing hitherto unpublished figures "and each one of the New England states showed a substantial increase in the value of foreign shipments for the second quarter of 1924 over the earlier months of the year."

"According to the state export figures which the department of commerce will release tomorrow, Massachusetts led the New England field with exports during the second quarter of the year with $30,586,409 as compared with $27,988,120 for the preceding quarter. Connecticut followed with exports valued at $24,486,791 for the second quarter as compared with $23,446,388 for the preceding quarter; then came Rhode Island with $15,531,198 in the second quarter of the year, compared with $14,103,093 the first quarter; New Hampshire followed with $13,551,093 compared with $12,551,093; Maine came next with $11,585,673 as compared with $10,553,812; and Vermont brought up the rear with $824,670 as compared with $94,453.

"Massachusetts increased its export trade for the second three months of 1924 over the preceding three months by $2,885,722; Connecticut by $10,403; Maine by $52,800; Rhode Island by $152,155; New Hampshire by $305,413; and Vermont by $130,217—a total increase for the six states of over $5,230,000.

"In Massachusetts we find increasing export of cotton cloth and rubber, neither showed gains in its exports of hardware, electrical machinery, tools, ammunition and fireworks; Maine shipped more pulp wood, paper, leather boots, unbleached cotton cloth, and canned fish. Rhode Island's improvement was comprised largely of shipments of cotton cloth, tools, and rubber-soled canvas shoes. New Hampshire exported chiefly consignments of knitting machines, leather boots and shoes, mining and oil well machinery, and sulphite wood pulp; while Vermont showed larger exports of scales and balances, and household goods.

"The total export trade for the first six months of 1924 for all the states and possessions of the United States was slightly over $2,000,000,000 and of this amount $90,000,000 was New England's share. This is generally noteworthy when it is considered that New England exports were nearly all the products of home manufacture, whereas a considerable proportion of the export business of other states like New York and Texas comprised goods originating in other areas and transhipped through their ports.

Attracting Business of Other States.

"In this matter of attracting the export business of other states for routing through New England ports, I know a fine work has been done by the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Traffic Club of New England.

Sometimes in Washington, however, we wonder how much real get-together New England co-operation, these organizations are getting in their energetic efforts to develop the port of Boston, when ocean shipping men tell us that manufacturers within motor haul of Boston forward their products by rail to other ports, and on the other hand, when New England manufacturers who desire to ship from Boston say that they cannot get ships because not enough cargo is laid down to secure regular sailings. If this condition exists, of course it is fundamental and must be solved before New England can move ahead to such export service developments as have in recent years proven so successful in some of the South Atlantic ports. These southern ports are advertising in a systematic way expert port services which undertake to make a shipment from the middle west to Latin America or Europe via their particular gateways no more venturesome than putting a consignment on the rails to Chicago.

"The department of commerce, which I have the honor to represent here, will not only lend its every facility to developing the business of the port of Boston, but it is eager to assist in many other phases of New England's export problem. Notwithstanding ample evidence in our Washington files that the business men of New England are acquainted with the facilities of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, I feel that I may be privileged to give you a bird's-eye view of our work in order that any of you who are unacquainted with it may take advantage of its service. The bureau serves the farmer, the shoe manufacturer, the mill-owner, the leather tanner, ship builder, machinery or tool merchant, export agent or banker. It reaches out through its forty foreign electric collecting parties to obtain information which is then assembled in Washington and disseminated throughout the United States; our forty-three branch offices playing an important part in this latter operation.

"Dollars and Cents" Assistance

"That the bureau has already made some impression in the American industrial and commercial world may be deduced from the fact that while in 1923 it was receiving calls for information of all kinds to the extent of seven hundred per cent. at present it handles over six thousand daily inquiries for trade information. On an annual expenditure of less than $2,000,000, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is providing to the American business man, whether he be farmer, manufacturer, or exporter, "dollars and cents" assistance in business operations that are conservatively estimated to aggregate over $50,000,000 each year.

"Here in New England you have one of our district offices in Boston, and co-operative offices located in Providence, Worcester and Bridgeport. These four branches are the link connecting the business men of New England through our Washington organization with a staff of expert observers in 40 of the most important strategic commercial centers abroad. That New England is not unappreciative of this service is shown by the $8,445 in inquiries handled by the Boston district office during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, as compared with 48,142 the preceding year, and 36,522 in 1922.

"Requests for information of the widest range and reaching to the remotest parts of the globe are received and handled by the Boston office and we like a pardonable pride in some of its accomplishments. For example, one firm reports that though it had been in touch with our Boston office for only 60 days, orders had been received from 12 different countries. Numerous New England firms have reported additional business throughout the year. A Boston company having received a $35,000 order from Mexico, and a leather concern reporting

THE BABY OF THE BAND

Smallest of One Hundred Musicians and Soloists With Sousa's Band

It is doubtful if more than a few hundred people ever heard the famed harp "that once thru Tara's halls," but upwards of two millions of Americans each season for the past several years have heard its twelfth-century equivalent, played by Miss Wilfred Bambrick, who is the harp soloist for Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa, who is now on his thirty-second annual tour at the head of the great band which bears his name. Miss Bambrick is a small, slender, great size of the instrument which she plays, the presence of Miss Bambrick with the Sousa organization is interesting, and she is a figure of unusual interest when she appears in a bright frock against the background of the Sousa band.

Miss Bambrick is probably the only woman who has been a harp soloist with a band, and her instrument, usually seen only in connection with an orchestra, is but one of the many novelties which Sousa has welded into his programs. Her appearance with the Sousa organization, of course, is due to the fact that she is one of the best harpists in America. Miss Bambrick's harp is a "concert harp," and it is one of the features of the Sousa program which are certain to be widely acclaimed. But she is more than a mere soloist. Miss Bambrick is the only woman soloist with the Sousa organization who maintains her place on the platform throughout the program, and during the band numbers she performs an important service which Sousa describes as maintaining liaison between the reed sections and the brass. For some reason, not well understood, either by Sousa or by sound experts, who are not musicians, the presence of the harp makes a difference in the "finished product" of the Sousa presentation which is readily noticeable if Miss Bambrick finds it necessary to leave playing for a few minutes to tighten a string upon her instrument, and of all instruments, the harp, with its susceptibility to weather and atmospheric conditions is most difficult to keep in exact pitch.

Miss Bambrick was born in Canada, and like all of the Sousa soloists, received her training entirely in America. Her present engagement may be a farewell one, as she has entered into a contract with Lionel Powell, the London concert manager, for an engagement abroad.

Tickets are going fast for the appearance here next Monday night of Sousa and His Band, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. The concert is an extra in the Steiner Concert Series, and tickets may be secured at their local stores.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Showing themselves a strong, well-balanced company, the Stanley James players opened the 1924-25 stock season last night at the Lowell Opera House, presenting the hilarious Broadway hit, "Just Married," before an audience that took every seat in the little playhouse and that was delighted from the opening curtain until the last march. Large numbers of city officials, the Rotary club and other organizations were present in addition to the usual large number of regulars. Everything ran off smoothly. Mr. James was given a rousing reception when he appeared on the stage to introduce members of his company.

systematic expansion of its foreign business through the bureau's reports on European conditions and prospective foreign buyers.

Super-Power Survey

"The department of commerce is keenly interested in New England's economic welfare. To discuss for a moment from the subject of promoting commerce, I would call your attention to the super-power survey undertaken by Secretary Hoover, which has a direct and important significance to the economic well-being of all New England. The demand for electrical energy in this territory is increasing at the amazing rate of 10 per cent each year. Experts declare that when all the available water power in the area is developed it can supply only one-quarter of the demand. Principally, dependence must, therefore, be placed, if we are to judge by present prospects and facilities, upon generation of power by fuel. The super-power survey, to which I have referred, showed that interconnection of steam and of hydroelectric plants over the entire area will provide sufficient reliable power to meet the growing demands. Already the principle of interconnection has been applied and many of the large electric companies of this territory are co-operating to develop facilities adequate to meet future requirements.

"However, the department of commerce has no disposition to make New England feel dependence upon any governmental outside agency for her economic well-being. We may help, but it is up to New England to keep herself on the industrial and commercial map as she is now doing so well, sometimes under adverse conditions. You have here, perhaps, the finest manufacturing technique and skilled workers in all the world. You have given birth in this region to more successful business brains than has any other part of the country, for it was here that the industrial and commercial beginnings of the country were made. Modern international trade with its complexities of organization and administration and its intensified competitions calls for the skilled worker, progressive manufacturing technique and business brains. All these New England possesses in all degree. They are assets that will survive any temporary setback or depression. They have always been the most prized resources of every nation which has made industrial and commercial history. New England need only apply them to the tasks of a world virtually remade in the last decade."

Besides the address of Dr. Klein, those at the convention heard speeches broadcast from Springfield by Governor Channing C. Brown, of Massachusetts; Governor Charles A. Templeton of Connecticut; Governor Fred P. Brown of New Hampshire, Lt. Governor Felix Toupin of Rhode Island, Governor-elect Ralph D. Brewster of Maine and E. S. Brigham, Vermont, commissioner of agriculture.

The speeches were heard throughout New England, and the radio station telephone hook-up to accomplish the broadcasting was said to be the longest ever employed. A relay New England event. Six hundred miles of telephone wires were necessary to link the four broadcasting stations. It was estimated.

Mayor James M. Curley and former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston were other speakers.

and in return gave a fine short speech that added just the final touch to a splendid program.

The show itself, from the pen of Ann Nichols, author of "Able's Irish Rose," is well known as one of stagedom's greatest successes in the field of love and humor. Let it suffice to say that it was intelligently interpreted and well played by a company that seems to have endeared itself to Lowell in one night. One thing is noticeable about the new company—and every one finds it agreeable—and that is youth. The members of the cast are all young in years although they may some of them be well advanced in experience. Averaging up with other companies that have graced the home of the spoken drama, some with good and others with indifferent success, the Stanley James company has youth in its favor. The entire personnel averaging much younger in years than any company that has appeared here in a score of years.

The company reflected some intensive faithful rehearsal and not a slip marred the performance, the company members showing their experience and confidence by the capable and enthusiastic manner with which they handled the fun that was to them their work. A tall, manly chap is the leading man and he calls himself Gerald Rowan, adding that he likes to be known to his friends as "Jace." He handled a long difficult part while enco last night and established himself in the good graces of his audience on his first bow. Wilmer Waller and Franklin Munnell made favorable impressions and seem destined to grow in esteem.

Miss Leslie Rice, leading woman of the players, a vivacious tantalizing young girl with a wealth of bobbed hair, played prettily and stormed terribly as her part demanded, but without sent over the footlights a pleasant personality that is bound to wear well. She was ably supported by Faith Avery, the ingenue, a smart bit of a girl in an exacting part that she handled well.

Miss Vessie Farrell, almost turned the opening night into a "Miss Farrell night" because of the large number of friends and admirers in the audience who made their way from other cities just to witness her opening performance. Here, surrounded by basket after basket of flowers that came over the lights when she was introduced to the theatre patrons Miss Farrell was at a loss for words, but in doing her work she was the same talented capable actress that most of us remember so proudly.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Will Mr. Cressy, one of the finest character actors now in vaudeville, return to Lowell this week to present "The Village Lawyer," a whimsical, philosophical story of life in a New Hampshire village after the summer boarders have left. He is ably supported by Blanche Payne, "The Village Lawyer" really is just a scene from a Cressy novel, written some time ago and entitled, "The Hills of Hampshire," and in it are many, many highly anecdotal that make twice-rate vaudeville stuff. Pretty much it follows a comedy line, but once or twice Mr. Cressy adds a touch of seriousness that makes for balance and continuity. He does not know much law, at least not $20 worth, which is the size of the retaining fee received by him for the first case he has handled in six months, but the $20 means the purchase of a clarinet, something he has wanted for 30 years. In the end he does not get it, of course, for the $20 is given back and instead of legal advice the divorce-seeking client gets a sample of an old man's wisdom and is satisfied. It is a well handled sketch from start to finish.

One of the most surprising and prettiest combinations of comedy, singing and dancing is found in "In the Swim," presented by Alice Thornton and G. Continued to Page Nine

NEW ENGLAND WEEK

In Boston, in Lowell and every other city in New England, this week devoted to New England industrial interests, started off in good shape with fine displays of the products of factory and farm and an earnest endeavor to direct attention to the varied assortment of commodities New England produces. The great trouble with New England appears to be that her industrial products are not sufficiently known and advertised even among her own people. During this week the great factories will endeavor to familiarize the people with the vast variety of products turned out right here in New England, their sterling merit and comparatively moderate prices.

In Boston, attention is directed to the progress of the port, its trade and growth as the great outlet for New England products. Greater Boston is forging ahead; and it remains for other cities to follow its example. We are soon to have a greater Lowell to include several of the adjoining towns. The ever increasing number of automobiles enables us to get away from the center of congestion and thus relieve the traffic jam and leave more room for the people to move about in the business district. This may not come directly, but it is in line with the tendency of the times to move outward to the open, to get away from the narrow streets and crowded thoroughfares which were laid out long before the auto was heard of. They cannot be widened, but they can be relieved of a part of the crowding by constructing adequately wide thoroughfares farther out, first class through routes and wide highways leading to the towns that are eventually to become part of the greater Lowell.

In this New England week the towns adjoining Lowell are all interested in her industries and her progress. Thousands of people from the towns earn their livelihood in our workshops and factories but reside beyond our borders and hence do not pay taxes here. If they do not come to us, we shall go out to them and eventually unite with them as one community in the Greater Lowell. It is thus that every city by steady growth and expansion can build up a greater New England; but each city and town must do its share in the general forward movement.

There are business difficulties ahead to be sure and dull times are still with us, but by general co-operation for the common good, by self-confidence, by letting the world know what we have to offer, we can overcome present obstacles and hasten the return of prosperity. But to do this our New England residents must boost their own industries and aid them by their patronage. They can then with better grace appeal for outside patronage.

In his address before the convention of New England workers in Boston last night, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, showed that New England, and especially Massachusetts, is steadily increasing the amount of her exports, showing that even though slowly, the industries are steadily gravitating toward normal conditions. This movement may be aided by advertising New England goods even to her own people and by better co-operation in marketing her products. If New Englanders themselves do not patronize their own industries by purchase of their products, they need not be surprised if they find difficulty in disposing of them elsewhere.

U. S. SENATORIAL CONTEST

Apart from the election of president, the great contest between the two major political parties will be for control of the United States senate. There are thirty-two seats to be filled for the new congress taking office March 4 next. The republicans have nominal control of the senate with 50 seats, including the La Follette contingent, which is ranked as progressive or insurgent, and one seat vacant. The democrats have 43 seats and the farm-labor party two. On this basis, it is estimated that the republicans to retain control of the senate must not lose more than three seats and to gain control the democrats must gain six seats. The democrats are confident of making material gains.

Senator Moses in a recent announcement after a tour of the states in which there are close contests for senatorial seats, said the republicans would win several senatorial seats which had been held by democrats. Moses is not recognized as a political prophet, however, and his work to aid in securing party control in the senate is probably expected to offset his unfriendly attitude to President Coolidge. He was one of the senators who at first were opposed to Coolidge, but who later saw fit to change their minds in regard to his candidacy. Anyhow, Moses included the seat occupied by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts among those which he said the republicans can win. In this he shows greater confidence than most of the leaders at Washington who believe that the republicans, not even with the handpicked candidate of the White House, can defeat Senator Walsh. The dictation of the White House as to the nominee is bitterly resented by the supporters of Louis A. Coolidge and Congressman Dallinger, one of whom would have been nominated but for Washington interference.

Other states in which, according to Moses, the republicans expect to win are Oklahoma, Colorado, Kentucky and possibly also Tennessee.

The hope is entertained that the La Follette ticket will take more from the democrats, than from the republicans, but in that the democrats will doubtless be mistaken. The possibility is there, however, and it must be met by democratic opposition and aggression if it is to be overcome.

It was announced by Senator Wheeler, the running mate of La Follette, that he would support Walsh, but while the senator has no alliance or understanding with the radicals, it is a fact that Wheeler on his tour of this state did not mention the senator and the latter is doubtless better pleased that he didn't.

The fight in this state will probably be the hottest for any seat contested by the republicans, not that Speaker Gillett is much of a campaigner, for he isn't; but to overcome the sentiment that he is Coolidge's man and should be elected. Senator Walsh will doubtless give a good account of his stewardship in a record of service to the people unequalled by that of any other New England senator. He should receive the cordial support of all service men as he has been one of the original advocates of adjusted compensation for the soldiers and never lost an opportunity to advance the cause, whether by his voice or vote. As for his opponent, Speaker Gillett, his past record, except in rare cases, excused him from voting, and so he is not regarded as the important measures on which the senators had to take a definite stand; but the fact that Gillett was selected as the opponent of Senator Walsh by President Coolidge and William M. Butler, offers conclusive proof that he is a man after their own heart. Despite the fact that the speaker of the house, the republican leader in the senate, the president and secretary of the war department are all New England men, they have done practically nothing for New England, and yet they have the hardihood to ask the votes of Massachusetts to elect Gillett to the senate and thus displace a senator who was an active and aggressive force working continually for the interests of Massachusetts and New England. We predict that in this reactionary movement they will be utterly defeated.

OUR POSTAL SERVICE

Very few people have any idea of the vastness of the business done by the postoffice department. It may be supposed that the postal department keeps a very large quantity of supplies on hand at all times and yet few people have any idea of the vastness of its needs in this respect. Just imagine a contract such as was let by the department at Washington last week to the Middle West Supply company of Dayton, Ohio, calling for twelve billion stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers. The contract beginning Jan. 1, calls for annual payments of $5,000,000 on condition that the company be prepared to deliver ten million envelopes and newspaper wrappers daily. If the postal department can dispose of that many envelopes and newspaper wrappers every day, it means that the carriers will have to deliver that number with the exception of those that are sent out of the country, evidently a small fraction of the whole. But it is not a fact that there are probably 500 private envelopes and newspaper wrappers used for every one that is obtained from the postoffice? Yet all those are delivered by the carriers who also deliver a great many packages of parcel post matter. Thus we may get a slight insight to the ubiquitous character of the work of Uncle Sam's postal employees.

FIRE PREVENTION

We are to have a fire prevention week October 5th to 11th. We had an accident prevention week a couple of years ago, during which men made speeches in the schools, the theatres and other public assemblies, stressing the need of care on the avoidance of accidents. What was the result? A marked increase in the number of accidents. Let us hope that fire prevention week will be more successful. A real effort is needed throughout the community to prevent carelessness which is the main cause, both of fires and accidents.

Massachusetts republicans rejoiced at the victory of Speaker Gillett in his contest for the senatorial nomination and allowed that it was because of his intimate relations with President Coolidge that he won such a victory. The Coolidge influence, however, did not save the day in Michigan, where Senator Coughlin, who is persona non grata with the administration, won a signal victory.

John W. Davis made a serious mistake in allowing himself to be photographed in a golf suit with the usual knickerbockers. His picture in this garb is being exhibited by republicans, side by side with that of President Coolidge in overalls pitching hay on his father's farm. Davis, however, is not a poseur and is not trying to deceive the farmers or anybody else.

SEEN AND HEARD

La Follette hopes to find in unions there is strength.

One really nice thing about an election is it leaves congressmen no time to tend to government business.

Two former Cleveland newsmen are buying railroads. If they had started out as bootleggers they would own the country.

A Thought

A noble soul has no other merit than to be a noble soul.—Schiller.

Not Much of a Place

"Traveled!" said a sailor in a train to a passenger who had questioned him, "I should think I have. I've been all around the world; I've been under all the stars; I've been in all the ports; I don't know the inside of it. Why, you must know a lot about geography." "Yes; we did put in there once, but only to coal the ship. 'Tain't much of a place, what I remember of it."

Where She Was Going

The farmer's pink cheeked daughter was coming up the lane. She was clad in a girly pair of overalls, from the pockets of which bulged bunches of waste and sundry wrenches and pliers. In her hand was a dirty satchel rattling with an assortment of iron tools. "Where are you going, my pretty maid?" asked, "I'm going a milking." "No," she said, "But why the tools?" "Trouble," she said, "with that darned old milking machine again."—Life.

Wanted to Be Held

Two members of a legislature got into an argument about the right of the debate waked vigorous. Starting with unparliamentary language, they soon began to exchange violent threats. An immediate clamor was set up for the sergeant-at-arms, and eventually that functionary suggested to "Separate 'em," urged one excited member; "Separate 'em." "Ain't they 10 feet apart?" "But they are shaking fists." "Aw, them's just gestures," said the sergeant-at-arms as he led off a fresh chew.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Shook's Impressions

A powerful tribal ruler from the Sudan made the grand tour of America last year. He saw skyscrapers, dynamos, subways, airplanes and took in baseball as well as grand opera. All this was quite baffling an eyeshall. His trip had been an immense success, the entire trip that one of the officials detailed as an escort, took aside the Sudanese secretary and adjured that functionary to acknowledge what had impressed the shok most. Without hesitation the secretary admitted: "The ice cream cone."

Successful Exhibition

The famous ventriloquist, Arthur Prince, was once asked to give a specimen of his art at an open charity bazaar. So he took his stand beneath a big chestnut tree and peering up into the branches called out: "Young man, what are you doing up there?" "Nothing, mister," faltered a child's voice. "I just climbed up here to see the show," Mr. Prince was amazed, for, of course, he hadn't the slightest idea that anyone was up the tree. But he was equal to the occasion. He waited for the applause to cease and then said: "Will you behave yourself, sonny, if I let you stay up there?" "O, yes, sir," said a frightened voice. More loud applause. "Well, sir, there, then, but hold tight." "Yes, sir, I will," renewed the applause. "Don't fall." "No, sir." Then Mr. Prince turned and bowed to the audience. It was the most successful exhibition of his career.

You May Count That Day

If you sit down at set of sun,
And count the stars that you have done,
And counting, find
That eased the heart of him who heard
One self-denying deed, one word
That eased the heart of him who heard
One glance most kind,
That felt like sunshine where it went—
Then you may count that day well spent.
But if, through all the livelong day,
You've cheered no heart, by yea or nay,
If through it all
You've nothing done that you can trace
That brought the sunshine to one face,
No act most small
That helped some soul and nothing cost—
Then count that day as worse than lost.

—GEORGE ELIOT.

AN ABOUT TOWN

Met an interesting character Sunday in the person of Rev. Bro. Gilbert C.F.X., of St. John's preparatory school in Danvers. Bro. Gilbert is one of the most enthusiastic sporting men I have yet had the pleasure of talking with. In the course of his conversation he took occasion to remark that Rev. Bro. Herman C.F.X., now stationed at St. Patrick's Box in this city, should be given most of the credit for "Anding" Babe Ruth, baseball's biggest idol. It happened, he said, while Ruth was a pupil and Brother Herman a teacher at St. Mary's industrial school in Baltimore. Bro. Herman directed Bro. Gilbert's attention to the famous star and in due time, he was coveting in the pitchers' box and the first base position for the Baltimore Orioles. Bro. Gilbert, incidentally, spent several weeks with the Baltimore club the past season as the guest of a life-long friend, Jack Dunn, the manager and owner.

With high school students firmly backing the school football squad this year, Sub Master James P. Conway in charge of athletics is urging the students to go out and get the general public interested. Mr. Conway believes football can be made as popular here as in Lawrence and Haverhill and hopes that every home game this year will draw a crowd such as attended the Lawrence-Lowell game at Alumni field last Thanksgiving. The attendance at local games prior to last Thanksgiving was disgraceful and there will be no reason for any recurrence of this year. The school will have a first class squad on the gridiron—and the squad will do a great deal better work if there is a large attendance cheering for the honor of Lowell high.

Did you ever play "Follow the leader"? Republicans played it to a far-seeing well in Liberty hall Saturday night when after the nomination of Walter Perham in the Eighth senatorial district, the six other candidates hastened to follow one another, in pledging support to the accepted and elected candidate. One candidate had left the hall for a moment and his friends hastened to pull him back to get "in the Leo Mongeau who is to be married next Monday to Miss Alice Cannon of Clinton, was last evening pleasantly surprised by about 100 of his friends at Fleur-de-lis camp, Long pond, and presented a purse of $250. Lowell members have received the call to assemble in October at a rally to be held in Boston. The first fall directors' meeting will be held Sept. 16, at 4 p. m. in Boston headquarters. Several matters of importance, including programs for the 1925 campaigns, will come up for consideration at this meeting.

The exchange members are doing their part toward the celebration of New England week, by having two picturesque and very interesting window displays in various cities in six states. Lowell members are advertising individually in the good cause.

AMERICANS IN NO DANGER IN SHANGHAI

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—While there is no disposition among either state or navy department officials to neglect precautions for the protection of American lives and property in the vicinity of Shanghai, China, those who are familiar with the conditions there feel no anxiety concerning the safety of the foreign city of Shanghai.

This is not to say that foreigners may not suffer property losses in the continuing fighting between the forces of the northern and southern Chinese. That foreigners' lives will be endangered anywhere, however, except possibly through accident, is considered very unlikely.

Irresponsible brigades might not be so safe to trust, but the forces which are threatening now to clash are regularly organized armies and their leaders are perfectly aware that they would defeat their own ends by permitting violence to Americans or Europeans since the offending side would find foreign troops aligned against it, as an immediate sequel to any such development.

The foreign city of Shanghai is a compact settlement, strongly policed and further protected by the international volunteers.

In addition to this the city is directly under the guns of several cruisers, kept always in the Whang-poo River directly off the "bund" or waterfront.

These vessels, though mostly obsolete from a naval expert's standpoint, are equal, any one of them, to dealing with the entire Chinese navy or to holding back almost any number of Chinese on the land side, within range of their batteries.

The native city, while directly adjoining the foreign section, nevertheless is quite distinct from it and fighting might go on there without peril to the "settlement." If artillery were used there would perhaps be danger from chance shots across the line, but the native city wall would be sufficient to protect foreigners, who kept outside, from small arms fire and the Chinese commanders, if they do employ heavier guns, unquestionably will be careful to avoid pointing them in the "settlement's" direction.

In fact, there have been considerable battles in the native city in the past without disturbing the tranquility of life outside the walls.

The cutting of the Shanghai-Nanking railway, which closes the navy or to holding back almost any number of Chinese on the land side, within range of their batteries.

There also are a few small foreign settlements in up-country towns, especially Nanking, which are not far from the native city and Shanghai. In places of this sort there may be some danger of mishaps.

Archibald Rinon, of 12 Common street unintentionally went fox-hunting a few days ago and bagged one animal. Mr. Rinon was driving an automobile between Fitchburg and Ayer one evening recently when a young fox broke from the bushes that lined the road. The animal was evidently confused and bewildered by the glare of the automobile lights and, in spite of Mr. Rinon's attempts to avoid hitting him he was run down and had a leg broken.

A veterinary examined the injured member and advised that the animal be killed. Mr. Baker of the Lowell Humane society did the killing.

Daily Peem

An appetite's really a right funny thing; it affects everybody the same. For various dishes a longing 'twill bring; then again it will likely go lame.

You're wishing for this and you're wishing for that 'cause your palate just tells you to do it. You order queer dishes just based on your wishes and then you will gladly go to it.

A man will eat pork chops for many a day 'cause his pork choppy appetite's fired. And then all desire for them passes away when of pork chops he finally gets tired.

It seems it's this way with the food that's in range in the restaurant menus each noon. You eat of one thing; then you suddenly change as the one thing seems way out of tune.

There's just one exception that comes to my mind and it's ham, for in every day rations, the ham on the menus, you always will find, carries with it such good combinations.

5 REASONS WHY

OUTDOOR PAINTING

Can Best Be Done in the Fall

1. Unless the surface is thoroughly dry it cannot be successfully painted. In the fall, surfaces are dry, while in the spring a surface which needs repainting is sure to contain moisture or frost, and it cannot be successfully painted until dried out.
2. Dry wood absorbs more paint than damp wood. The paint penetrates deeper, gets a firmer hold, thus giving it the tendency to adhere better.
3. Weather in the fall is more uniform, being sunny and dry, and is the ideal time to apply paint because it will dry and harden quicker. In the spring, on the other hand, the days are usually too damp, cloudy and unsettled.
4. The hot weather that follows spring is very hard on new paint, while winter weather is much easier on a new coat of paint. Again, there are fewer insects and less dust in the atmosphere to mar the new work done in the fall.
5. It is easier to keep the winter's moisture and dampness out by applying a coat of paint in the fall, when the surface is dry, than it is to get the moisture or dampness out of the wood if you wait to apply a coat of paint in the spring.

LEGION PLANS FALL AND WINTER ACTIVITIES

Activities for the fall and winter season were planned at a well attended meeting of Lowell Post 57, American Legion, held in the Veterans' wing of the Memorial Auditorium last evening.

A committee, consisting of James F. Conway, John J. Walsh and Michael H. Harrington was named to consider the advisability of giving a prize cup to the winner of the annual high school regiment individual prize drill.

The post voted to grant the use of the quarters to the Sixth Regiment association on Oct. 25 for its annual reunion. It was also voted to invite the Women's auxiliary of the post to the next meeting at which a special entertainment will be given.

DR. DRURY COMMENDED FOR HIS SERVICES

The services of Dr. John N. Drury at the isolation hospital, from which duty he was relieved by a vote of the board of health last week, were commended in a resolution introduced by Fisher H. Pearson and voted by the board yesterday.

Another feature of yesterday's meeting was the receipt of the following letter from Councilor Joseph A. N. Chretien, upon which no action was taken except to place it on file: Dr. Francis R. Mahony, Chairman, Board of Health, Gentlemen:

There is a rumor about abolishing the salary of the superintendent of nurses at the Lowell isolation hospital. This action on your part would affect Mrs. Smith, who is now acting as superintendent of nurses.

This position always existed, but without salary. The salary commission of 1922 decided to establish a salary for that position. The committee at the time thought it was only fair that she should receive compensation for her work. This action was approved by the whole body in special session. I, for one, do not approve taking away her compensation.

Respectfully yours, JOSEPH A. N. CHRETIEN.

All members of the board present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Dr. Francis R. Mahony at 4:30 o'clock.

The following resolution to commend Dr. Drury for his services at the isolation hospital was introduced by Fisher H. Pearson.

"The members of the board of health desire to commend Dr. John N. Drury for his efficient and conscientious work in attending the patients at the Lowell isolation hospital during the illness of the superintendent."

The motion was introduced, said Mr. Pearson, "to clear the air of suspicion," and was accepted, unanimously.

A license to conduct a boarding house for infants was voted Mrs. Leonidina Deselles, 627 Lakewood avenue. Max Goldstein's application for a permit to sell denatured alcohol was refused.

A heavy increase of garbage collections over last year was reported and the board voted to increase its collecting teams from nine to eleven and to hire additional men. Last week 153 loads of garbage were collected, compared to 120 one year ago.

The first stop for a speech late tonight will be Pittsburgh.

Thereafter the Montana man is booked for five speeches in principal Ohio cities and addresses worked up during recent days indicated that his intention is to discuss the administration of former Attorney General Daugherty at considerable length before citizens of Mr. Daugherty's state. Somewhere the same policy will be adopted at his speaking dates in Illinois, which begins with Chicago on Sept. 20, except that General Dawes, republican vice presidential nominee, will be the target of criticism.

Her father, Joseph Sczychovics, was formerly employed in a Salem shoe factory, but is at present engaged in the manufacture of children's shoes in Lynn.

New York Yankees Move Into Tie For First Place in American League

SENATORS FALL BACK INTO TIE WITH YANKS AS RESULT OF TIGER DEFEAT

Cobb's Sluggers Win Second Straight Game Over Senators
Yanks Defeat White Sox, 2 to 0—Pirates Make Gain In National League Pennant Hunt

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Yankees and Giants, defendants in baseball's Trojan war, enjoy the smiles of the watching gods today in their effort to retain the game's fairest prize, the world's series, captured and carried here three seasons back.

Forced from their position by Washington, the Yankees yesterday went into a tie with the Senators for first place by winning from Chicago, 2 to 0. The Senators lost their second successive game to the Tigers who made a clear gain of one contest and are now only four games behind the two leaders. The score was also 2 to 0.

At the National League gate the Giants face a double problem—the Robins who strike from within and the Pirates ship which approaches in the harbor without. Both Robins and Giants rested yesterday to gird for the Corsairs who are making evident preparations to slaughter both in the two series which begin Friday at Ebbetts field and end at the Polo grounds on the following Wednesday.

The advancing Pirates completed their sack of Boston yesterday by winning the third straight game, 4 to 3, in 13 innings, and now trail the Robins by one and one-half games, and the Giants by two and one-half. They have 15 games to play, New York has 13 and Brooklyn 11.

The deciding battles yesterday with the contending teams concentrating upon every pitched ball, were closely fought. The grim Yankees veterans, taking advantage of previous experience, converted two bases on balls into runs, necessary to win. From Chicago and won the victory on four hits. Dugan's fielding and Jones' pitching prevented the White Sox from tying on 11 occasions.

The Browns defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 3, in the only game played among the distance clubs in both leagues. It was the final contest between the two series which begin Friday at Ebbetts

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE ENDS SEASON WITH BANQUET

Organization Celebrates Conclusion of Second Successful Year—Bellevues Officially Declared Champions and Awarded Cup—Prizes Presented

The City Twilight League won its final victory of the season in Marie's restaurant, last evening when nearly 100 members and invited guests of the organization "stepped up to the plate" at the banquet table to celebrate the formal closing of the league season.

The Bellevues, managed by Tom Fleming, were officially declared champions of the league and were presented an engraved baseball by the mayor, and a beautiful silver loving cup, the joint donation of Frank Ricard, well known Central street jeweler.

THOMAS F. MCSORLEY

eler, and John S. Peters, proprietor of Marie's restaurant. The cup may be seen in the display window at Ricard's.

Individual awards for supremacy in batting were presented to the three leading sluggers, Pinsky Birkenhead of the Pawtucket A.A., Ducky Bradbury of the Bellevues, and Phil McGraw of the Bellevues. Their trophy was a ball and bat, donated by Mr. Peters.

Last night's gathering was to commemorate the closing of the second successful season of the City Twilight League. The schedule got under way on the South common last May with six fast organized teams participating in the round of 12 games. With 11 wins to their credit out of 12 starts, the Bellevues capped the pennant, while the other teams followed in this order: Pawtucket A.A., managed by Tom Flynn; Marie's Americans, by

MURPHY KILLED PAL QUILTS GAME

America's Foremost Auto Racer Fatally Injured When Car Hit Fence

Bennie Hill, Pal, Shaken by Tragedy, Says He Is Through Racing Forever

SYRACUSE, Sept. 16. (By the Associated Press.)—Jimmy Murphy of Vernon, Cal., favored to win the national racing championship of the American Automobile Association for 1924, and veteran of many an automobile speed classic both in this country and abroad, was cleared from the track by state troopers just in time for the leaders in the race to thunder by. The event was won by Phil Shafer, in the 54m. 208s. Bennie Hill, teammate of Murphy, flashed over the line second in 57m. 20.81s. Harry Hartz, substituting for his teammate, Fred Comer, came in third in 2h. 3s.

Murphy survived the accident by a few minutes, and was brought to a hospital in this city, six miles away, but he never regained consciousness. He was the only victim of the accident which happened on the inside of the track where spectators were not allowed. The tragedy was staged, however, directly opposite bleachers seating approximately 2000 people, and in full sight of at least 5000 persons who had grouped at the curve.

Phil Shafer Wins
 Splinters of wood from the wrecked fence and debris from the track by state troopers just in time for the leaders in the race to thunder by. The event was won by Phil Shafer, in the 54m. 208s. Bennie Hill, teammate of Murphy, flashed over the line second in 57m. 20.81s. Harry Hartz, substituting for his teammate, Fred Comer, came in third in 2h. 3s.

It was an attempt to lap his teammates and pass Shafer, that Murphy pushed his car into a final burst of speed, and he roared down the straightaway past the grandstands at approximately 80 miles an hour. At the turn which would have brought him into the backstretch, he second, unable to straighten out the car, and the bleacher occupants, were horrified to see him clip the inside fence once, then again, and finally on a complete third swing crash into the railing, and carry it before him for nearly 100 feet.

The record which Murphy had attained so far this year placed him easily as the leader of American racing drivers in the point contest for 1924 championships, and it has been his hope to gain the 300 additional points which victory here would have given him so as to be assured of the automobile association. He has up to this race 1936 points in his credit, while Shafer, yesterday's winner, was credited with but 500 points.

Oldfield's Accident
 The last fatality on the local track in connection with state fair automobile racing occurred in 1919 when Leo Oldfield, relative of Barney Oldfield, crashed through a wooden fence on the outside of the track and killed two persons in the crowd. Oldfield himself was not injured.

The accident yesterday marks the second fatality on the state fair tracks within a week. The body of the 65-year-old grandfatherly old man, who was killed when his bulky car collided with one driven by Tommy Murphy.

Pal Quits Racing
 SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Bennie Hill, pal of Jimmy Murphy, America's foremost automobile racer, who was killed here yesterday in the 150-mile dirt track race, declared last night that he is through racing forever.

Hill, visibly shaken and saddened by the track tragedy, left for Los Angeles, Calif., shortly before midnight with the body of his closest friend and roommate.

Murphy's Last Ride
 SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The roar of racing motors and the hum of busy speedways had died down today for Jimmy Murphy. The body of the champion automobile driver, who met death in a 150-mile contest on the New York State Fair Grounds track yesterday was being borne back across the continent to the home in Vernon, California, which he had known from early boyhood.

With Murphy on his last ride were the drivers against whom he had pitted his car in his last race—and to whom he had lost. Before the race these drivers—and Murphy—had arranged to take the train on which they finally did leave.

When the time for departure came at 12:25 o'clock this morning, it was a sad little group which gathered to bid adieu to the New York Central train here and with bowed heads watched the copper casket of their friend and comrade placed aboard the baggage car of the Lake Shore Limited, while they entered a car farther back.

On arrival in Chicago at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the casket will be transferred at once to the Santa Fe, Murphy's favorite route, and the trip continued onto his home state. Arrival in Los Angeles is scheduled for early Friday afternoon, when Murphy's body will be taken to the home of his uncle, Judge Martin O'Donnell, in Vernon, a suburb of Los Angeles. It was this place which Jimmy Murphy had known as home since the death of his parents in the San Francisco earthquake 18 years ago.

The exact cause of the accident which resulted in Murphy's death probably never will be known. It was established, however, that he had been hugging the inside fence of the dirt Grand Circuit track which is used for automobile racing here.

Notable Figures in Dodgers' Sensational Spurt

Can Brooklyn throw back Pittsburgh and New York and win the National league championship? That's the question fans in the Heydler loop are asking these days.

The Dodgers have come forward with a sensational rush and are conceded an excellent chance to win the pennant. Great pitching has been a prime factor in the team's belated drive. Led by the remarkable Dazzy Vance the Brooklyn pitchers have turned in one brilliant performance after another.

But pitching, important as it is, isn't everything. Brooklyn is being piloted by Wilbert Robinson, one of the great managers in baseball. Robinson can get as much out of a ball player as any man who ever ran a ball club. This may account for the splendid showing the veterans—Zach Wheat, Jack Fourrier and Milton Stock—are making. Wheat is the oldest player in point of service in the National League, but he is the team's strongest batter. Fourrier, a discard, has played great ball at first and has hit after the vigorous manner of a Ruth. Stock, another discard, has filled a bad hole at third base and otherwise bolstered up what appeared to be the worst infield in the major leagues. These men, along with the pitchers, will come in for their share of credit if the Dodgers happen to win out.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Squad Has First Scrimmage and Shapes Up Well—Outlook Pleases Coach

The high school football squad went into its first scrimmage of the season yesterday afternoon at Alumni field and the coach for the past week, owing to the lack of a good center but this was removed when Homan appeared on the field yesterday and went in to make up for lost time. Homan is Lowell's best bet in this position and after a week of a good center but this was removed when Homan appeared on the field yesterday and went in to make up for lost time.

Among the linemen who showed up well yesterday were Gaithers, McBride, another tackle, Hogan, a 183 pound guard; Jack Ryan, a guard who tips the scale at 200 pounds; Sutherland, Keefe, Mulno and Coniff.

Coach Liston is plentifully supplied with backfield men. Capt. Frank Baron heads the list, followed by Gibbons, Vinall, Allard, Kelley, Sharkey, Sime, Reynolds, Desmond and a number of others.

Taken all in all the squad looks better than any squad of the past two or three years and at the present time it looks as though Lowell's gridiron team will be one to be respected in all its games.

This afternoon scrimmage again is in order and will be continued daily during the week.

DUNDEE ON THE DECLINE

Former Champion Receives Severe Beating at Hands of Jack Bernstein

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Johnny Dundee's pugilistic stock is on the decline. The veteran former junior lightweight and featherweight champion received a severe beating at the hands of Jack Bernstein of Yorkers in a 15-round match at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City last night.

Dundee, only a skeleton of the former ring idol of the Dundee-Leonard days, fought a losing fight all the way. He looked as though he had no knowledge of the finer points of ring technique, saving him from being knocked out by the younger Bernstein.

MUCH SPECULATION ON BOYLE-JULIAN BOUT

There is great speculation in Astor circles over the bout between Phiney Boyle of Lowell and Tony Julian of Brooklyn, scheduled for next Thursday night as the main event of the second weekly show of the season, under the auspices of the Moody club.

It is a bout hard to "dope" and as such has attracted attention not only throughout the city, but in various other pugilistic centers. The principals are of opposite types. Julian is a rushing, slugger, awing, aggressive and hard hitting fighter. Boyle is a skilful, crafty, fast working boxer.

The questions before the fans are: Can Boyle with his speed, dash forward, score, step away and repeat the performance, with sufficient success and regularity to win the decision? Or can Julian with his mauling and rough battling break through Phiney's defense and score with one of his well known sleep producers?

Then again those who favor Julian argue that while the Brocktonian is primarily a fighter, he does not, in fact, break through Phiney's defense and score with one of his well known sleep producers?

Then again those who favor Julian argue that while the Brocktonian is primarily a fighter, he does not, in fact, break through Phiney's defense and score with one of his well known sleep producers?

Barrett is the boy who halted the remarkable string of kayo victories set up here last winter by Frankie Cryne of Lawrence. In the other Ray Reynolds of Lawrence will meet Joe Reynolds of this city.

PANCHO VILLA SUSPENDED
 NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight boxing champion, was yesterday suspended indefinitely by the New York boxing commission when his claim of an injured shoulder as a reason for withdrawing from his battle with Frankie Genaro was not upheld by three physicians.

The commission informed Villa that no proposition for another bout with Genaro would be considered for at least eight months. Genaro has beaten Villa on points three times.

UNIFORMS FOR ST. PETER'S CADETS

Uniforms were issued to the members of St. Peter's Cadets football team at a meeting of the players last night in St. Peter's school hall. Rev. John M. Manion presided. Mr. Manion instructed the boys in the rules that are to govern the games of the coming season. Danny Crowe, former halfback for the O.M.I. Cadets, stepped up to play with the St. Peter's boys. Among others who will play with the Cadets are McGrade, Brady, Loughlin and Neville.

WANT SUNDAY GAME

The Dixon Shu-Ru would like a game for next Sunday with the Chelmsford A. A. C.M.A.C. St. Peter's Cadets, or any other fast team. The Dixon intend to put away their gloves after this week, closing a successful season on the diamond. Tiger Pearson, who has pitched in the majority of the games has lost but seven out of 21 games in which he has pitched. Edson, manager for the team, intends to have his team in the Twilight League next year. For a game Sunday call 4740.

Wins For Third Time

By defeating Mary K. Brown of California in the finals of the recent women's golf championship at Providence, R. I., Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd became the American champion for the third time.

It was, however, her first triumph as an American representative. In 1909, playing as a representative of Great Britain and as Miss Dorothy Campbell, she won the event for the first time, defeating Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia in the finals 2 and 1. The following year as a representative of Hamilton, Can., she won again, her opponent in the final being Mrs. G. M. Martin of Tavistock, England, 2 and 1.

AMERICA HOPES TO KEEP POLO CUP

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—America will seek to add another trophy to her rapidly growing collection of international athletic laurels today in the second match of the polo series with Great Britain. The United States, now in possession of the international challenge cup, won the first game last Saturday by the decisive score of 16 to 5 and needs only a victory today to clinch the series.

The cup defenders and challengers both will enter the game with revived linings.

1000 YOUNG ATHLETES ANSWER FOOTBALL CALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—More than 1000 young athletes will answer the booming call of the football today at the leading schools of the east and middle west for the second training session of the season.

In the east, the Harvard and Princeton swung into action yesterday following the initial workouts last week by Cornell, Columbia and others. In the west the squads of the Big Ten, with Notre Dame and most others which observe the conference rules, met with their coaches for the first time.

Harvard led the turnout with 122 students, the second largest ever assembled at Cambridge. Yale 800. Princeton reported squads of sixty. Estimates of 50 to 60 were given for most of the conference clubs. Iowa had the low mark of 12. Notre Dame, a strong football tradition, had its usual squad approaching 100.

Conditioning exercises, punting and passing were the meals served to most recruits. A few groups were in session on special plays, and others were practicing the period before the next week's game.

Among the contenders were the defending champion, Gene Sarazen, of New York, who finished in seventh place among the qualifiers with 142 strokes.

He was paired in the upper bracket with Neil Christian of Yakima, Wash., who qualified with 148.

FRANK CHANCE PASSES AWAY

"Peerless Leader" of National Game, Dies at Los Angeles

Led Cubs to Four National League Pennants—Also Managed Three Others

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 16.—

Frank Chance, California banker's son, whose brilliant baseball career won him the sobriquet of "Peerless Leader" of the national game, died at Los Angeles today at a hospital here last night after a long uphill battle against falling health.

Chance, who led the Chicago "Cubs" to four national league pennants and two world's series victories and managed at various times the Boston Americans, the New York Americans and the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, was manager of the Chicago White Sox.

He went east last winter to take over the reins of the Chicago club but became ill with influenza and returned to the coast for a rest. He returned to Chicago in time for the initial game between Chicago and New York. Illness overtook him, however, and in a few weeks he was back in southern California, fighting his battle against overwhelming odds.

At times he seemed to be recovering from the combination of bronchial asthma and heart trouble which had taken to him after his attack of influenza and when he celebrated his 47th birthday here a week ago, he appeared to be gaining strength.

Later yesterday, however, he became worse and his physician ordered him taken to a hospital, but he had been there only a short time when he died.

Funeral arrangements are expected to be completed today.

Play Netted Chance $140,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, the "peerless leader" who died last night in Los Angeles, gained part ownership of the team he so frequently led to victory through a single play, he once related. The one play netted him $140,000 since his stock in the club soared to that value.

It was in 1905, he Chance told it, and the Chicago Nationals were in second place, fighting for the pennant and with only a few more games to play.

In a hot game at Cincinnati, Chance laid down a perfect bunt and Chance struck for third. The "peerless leader" did not stop, but headed for home, sliding in safely.

Next day, Charles P. Tatt, then owner of the Cubs, sent for his manager.

"Frank," Chance quoted him as having said, "that was the greatest play I ever saw or ever expect to see. I am going to show you that I appreciate your work and efforts. I am going to let you buy a tenth interest in the club for $10,000."

Chance sold out for $140,000 after he left the club in 1912.

STRIBLING AT 19 IS BOXING VETERAN

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—There are those who believe that Tommy Robinson, hard hitting Maiden fighter, will defeat W. L. Young Stribling, 19-year-old Georgian, when the two meet in the Mechanics building ring tonight. Perhaps Thomas will be able to land something devastating on the youngster, but before fans draw final conclusions they must realize that Stribling is not merely a kid boxer. He is a veteran of 15 years' experience in the ring. Yes, he is only 19 years old.

As his father calls him, or "Willie," his mother's name for him, could stand on one hand, by his father's head when he was 2½ years old. He learned to box soon after and, starting at the age of 5, he toured the United States and foreign countries on the vaudeville stage taking on all comers.

He is no mere natural fighter, though he certainly has natural fighting instincts. He is a trained boxer from childhood. He has learned in his long career the value of scientific defense, and his many free-for-alls with wild-swinging kids has developed his defense against a right hand to a degree unusual in any fighter.

The story of the entire Stribling family is particularly unusual. His father and mother both were stage athletes and during the early youth of "W. L." and his younger brother, they toured with their parents. At the ages of four and six they began supplementing their parents' act with a burlesque boxing match in which the sensational young light heavyweight of today was cast to do a flop under the blows of the smaller boy.

Then came the free-for-alls which brought Stribling face to face with every style of fighting known to boys. He not only fought American boys, but those of the foreign countries in which his parents toured.

One of his victories was over the champion of Shanghai boys' brigade, an organization which corresponds in China to the Boy Scouts in America.

LEGIONNAIRE DAWES AT PRES. COOLIDGE HOLDS ST. PAUL CONVENTION CABINET MEETING

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dividing interest with the annual parade of the American Legion today was the visit of General Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential candidate, who came "solely as a legionnaire" to visit the Legion's national convention.

Despite the insistence of the general and Legion officials that he came as a Legionnaire Dawes of the Ransom, Ills., post, his visit attracted much attention, especially as he was reviewed by the Winona army band.

Business session activities included addresses by Charles P. Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway; Albert D. Alcorn, commander-in-chief of the Spanish War Veterans, and John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education.

Mr. Donnelly held up the proposal for government operation of railroads as an effort to establish a bureau of railroads, and characterized the issue as a "live one, potentially serious."

Mr. Alcorn brought greetings from the Spanish War Veterans, while Commissioner Tigert lauded the American Legion for its success in promoting educational and patriotic work and expressed the hope that "we shall never abandon a sane program for a better understanding of American institutions, ideals, history and government."

DAVIS ASSAILS G. O. P. "SPECIAL PRIVILEGE"

EASTWOOD FARM, Bunceon, Mo., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, spent today reading at the farm home of Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, democratic nominee for governor of Missouri, and working on the address he will deliver at Des Moines Wednesday night. Yesterday Mr. Davis opened the campaign in Missouri with the address here in which he assailed the republican party, "special privilege" and the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, and promised that if elected he would furnish a government "honest through and through, from top to bottom."

Tariff and taxation, it is understood, will form the subjects of the "Des Moines address."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive committee of the Shoe Manufacturers' association Monday voted to grant the request of the edgemakers' union to eliminate Oct. 15 as the date on which the new wage list would become effective.

This request was also made by the sole fasteners' local.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 16.—Following extended negotiations, the Standard Oil company's Rumanian subsidiary, the "Romano-American," has assessed at $10,000,000 the damages to the company's oil fields during the German occupation of Rumania. The company expects reimbursement from Germany under the operation of the Dawes plan.

Squires. They seem to love their work and turn it into play and the audience reaps the benefit.

As an Englishman with drawl and monotonous, Basil Lynn has few superiors and teamed with William Howard the result is first-rate vaudeville. Much of all their act is conversation, but Howard uses a fine voice in a good story and then, too, there is comedy galore.

No vaudeville visitor to Lowell works any harder to please than Jean Libonati, ex-lyricist, who travels over the keyboard like lightning and back again without a break. Last night's audience called for him long after the lights went out and his work is worthy of such appreciation.

Walter Ward and Ethel Dooley are two youngsters who dance, toss lariat and ride bicycles. Ward does two fine impersonations of Will Rogers and Fred Stone and mixes in a dash of comedy for good measure. It is a well conceived act and unusually well played.

The Three Lurons, help the program to get away on the right foot by putting on a splendid act to open the show. There is a thrill in every one of their stunts.

HELICOPTER WINS PRIZE SEEK CONTINUANCE IN TRIAL OF FORBES

French Engineer Captures 40,000 Franc Prize in Weight Lifting Contest

MONTBELIARD, France, Sept. 15.—The success achieved by Etienne Ouhmichen, the French engineer, in winning the forty thousand franc prize yesterday for weight-lifting with his helicopter is but a phase in the experiments he has been making with this type of machine. The helicopter used in the official test lifted 220 pounds to a height of one metre in one minute and remained in that position for another minute. Later it exceeded this height with a still greater weight.

ESCAPES WHILE BEING TAKEN TO COURT

LAWRENCE, Mass., Sept. 15.—Charles Vrenbeck, 24, of Salem, a prisoner being conveyed with 26 other prisoners from the local county jail to the superior court house this forenoon, slipped his handcuffs and disappeared. His absence was not noticed for nearly two hours when his case was called in court.

According to jail officials the 27 men were handcuffed in small groups, each group in charge of a jail officer. John Collins, a prisoner to whom Vrenbeck was handcuffed, could give the officers no information as to how the man had made his escape.

Collins was later sentenced to the state farm for drunkenness. Henry Foehl, alleged accomplice of Vrenbeck's in a break at Salem, was placed on probation.

SEEK CONTINUANCE IN TRIAL OF FORBES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Arguments for a continuance in the trial of Colonel Charles R. Forbes and John W. Thompson, St. Louis and Chicago contractor, jointly indicted in connection with irregularities in the administration of the veterans' bureau were presented before Federal Judge Cullen today. At the same time counsel for Thompson presented arguments in support of demurrers to two joint indictments charging conspiracy.

Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, arguing for continuance until after the November elections, based his plea on the suggestion that the veterans' bureau administration under Col. Forbes had become a political issue.

F. W. Strinsky in arguing for the demurrers, challenged the indictments returned by a federal grand jury on the ground that they were indefinite, uncertain, muddled and unobjectionable. James S. Easby-Smith, personal counsel for Forbes, while consenting to the argument for a postponement in the conspiracy indictment, indicated before the court that he would ask an early trial for Forbes on a separate indictment charging acceptance of a bribe.

RADIO HAS CONQUERED DREADED ARCTIC NIGHT

WISCONSIN, Me., Sept. 15.—"Radio is, without question, the most valuable item of equipment ever taken into the north by an Arctic explorer," Captain Donald B. MacMillan of the schooner Bowdoin said in a radio message received here today for Hiram P. Maxim of Hartford, Conn., president of the American Radio Relay league, to whom he paid a personal tribute.

Donald MacMillan, who is to correct our chronometers daily within a tenth of a second," he added. "Without correct time the new lands cannot be placed accurately upon the map. It has relieved the anxiety of friends at home as to our welfare and safety."

"It has kept us in constant touch with the world. It has completely conquered the hitherto dreaded Arctic night. We who go north will ever be indebted to radio."

Donald MacMillan, the radio operator of the expedition, reported today that while in Greenland where the winter was passed, he had worked two-way communication with fifty-five different amateur stations, the most distant being Honolulu.

BRADEN TAKES OUT NOMINATION PAPERS

In compliance with a previous announcement, Thomas H. Braden, present member of the board of election commissioners, yesterday took out nomination papers for the office of mayor. This is his first attempt to win public office at the hands of the electorate.

MANY KILLED IN CIVIL WAR

Heaviest Fighting Between Rival Chinese Forces Took Place Today

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press) 10 p. m.—The heaviest fighting done so far in the civil war between rival Chinese military factions striving for possession of Shanghai took place yesterday and today along the Shanghai-Nanking railway line, directly west of the city.

Casualties of the Chekiang army defending Shanghai were estimated tonight to have reached more than 400, of which half were killed. The Kiangsu attacking army was said to have lost about the same number. Observers declared the lines of the two armies were virtually unchanged in the fighting, although Chekiang headquarters claimed substantial advances south of the railway.

The great losses of the Chekiang forces were suffered in the sector south of the railway when a flank movement carried the lines beyond Arding, which is about 20 miles from Shanghai.

The Chekiang soldiers were caught in a machine gun trap at their most remote point of advance and mowed down wholesale.

TO ORGANIZE WORKERS TO FIGHT WAGE CUTS

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 15.—Three U. T. W. organizers, Francis A. Riviere, Harry Elough and Francis G. Gorman, will be heard tomorrow and speak at the Manville-Jencks company mill gates and also in Manville in a campaign to organize the workers to fight the wage cut put into effect today and recently.

President Thomas F. McMahon in charged that the cut was unnecessary, declaring the Manville company, as well as others, already had cut wages by speeding up machinery, reducing piece work price lists and adding looms and spindles to weavers and spinners.

President McMahon added that the matter of fighting the wage cut was left in his hands by the executive committee and officers and then when the workers make their decision he will "name the time and place" without hesitation.

"We didn't starve in 1922, neither will we in 1924," Mr. McMahon declared in conclusion.

The workers in the Manville company plants here and in Manville reported as usual this morning and there were no untoward happenings.

SAY SHOE UNIONS DELAY NEGOTIATIONS

BROCKTON, Sept. 15.—The Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' association met today to consider the action of the Edgewood shoe union in returning arbitration papers declined with wage reduction requested by the local firm.

The union asked that the change in price list date from the day the award is made by the state board, instead of Oct. 15, when the present contract expires. Otherwise the award would be retroactive.

The unions to date have shown a tendency to delay negotiations as much as possible. This, the manufacturers claim, makes it impossible to quote prices for the coming season to their customers.

TO-PRESS CHARGE AGAINST FIRPO

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Canon William S. Chase of Brooklyn and Bernard H. Sandler, his attorney, accompanied by a private detective, went to Ellis Island today to press their charge of perjury against Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight boxer. They found the pugilist already at the island.

Mr. Sandler explained that the detective, Benjamin Greenberg, was present to "safeguard the witnesses who have been threatened several times."

Canon Chase alleges that Firpo made false statements to the special immigration board of inquiry which examined him at the time of his arrival here several weeks ago.

INCENDIARY FIRE IN B'NAI ISRAEL TEMPLE

NORTHAMPTON, Sept. 15.—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, damaged the B'nai Israel temple here early this morning, with loss of $4000, partly covered by insurance. The Green found the doors unlocked, 52 arriving at the scene at about 1:30 o'clock this morning and directors of the church, who met there last night, claim the doors were all locked when they left the building.

COAST GUARD VETERAN DIES SUDDENLY

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Captain Henry I. Collins, who as head of the coast guards at Race Point, Provincetown, for the past 10 years, had taken part in several rescues of ships and seamen that brought him notice, died suddenly at a hotel yesterday. It was learned that the coast guard veteran, 52 years old, came here to meet friends. The bellboy found him dead in a chair in his room.

TWO SHOT IN GANG WAR

New York Men Seriously Wounded in Gun Battle in Lower East Side

Attacking Gunmen Fired In to Street Filled With Men, Women and Children

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Two men were seriously wounded in a lower East Side gang war today. The attacking gunmen, who had fired a score of shots in a street filled with men, women and children, escaped in an automobile.

Four gunmen opened fire on Mike de Palla of Brooklyn, as he left a shoe shining shop. He returned the fire as he ran, and emptied his pistol before he dropped with bullets in his head, chest and a leg. Louis Antol, 21, a waiter, who was passing by as the gun fight opened, was shot under the arm. The police attribute the shooting to a bootleggers' feud.

RUNS INTO WORST STORM IN 15 MONTHS' TRIP

WISCONSIN, Me., Sept. 15.—The auxiliary schooner Bowdoin, on which the MacMillan Arctic expedition is returning from the far north, early today was encountering the worst storm of the 15 months' trip, off St. George, N. F.

It was raining very hard and the little craft was running close-hauled, according to information obtained here at Station 1-MO by Traffic Manager R. H. Schnell of the American radio relay league. All sails had been taken in except the topsail.

The Bowdoin, which was driven back into Bonne bay, half way down the western coast of Newfoundland, Saturday, was expected to arrive at Sydney, C. B., some time today. If she does it is probable that she will be here next Saturday, as planned.

The members of the expedition were anxious to obtain the latest news, inquiring especially for the results of the Maine election, the outcome of the Franks murder case in Chicago and the baseball news.

DRIVER OF LIQUOR TRUCK FINED AND SENTENCED

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Sept. 15.—Edwin R. Savage of Adams, Mass., truck driver for the LaFrance Construction Company of Holyoke, Mass., was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to three months in the Windham county jail at Newfane by Judge Arthur P. Carpenter in the municipal court today on a plea of guilty to the charge of transporting liquor. Savage was arrested in Westminister last night by Sheriff Frank L. Wellman and Deputy Sheriff John O. Tucker of this place while repairing a flat tire, and in his car were found eleven gallons of alcohol and twelve quarts of whiskey. Savage said a man in Greenfield, Mass., asked him to take the liquor to Claremont, N. H.

DEATH WARRANT FOR EXECUTION OF WOMAN

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 15.—The first death warrant for the execution of a woman in Pennsylvania in many years was issued today at Gov. Pinchot's office. It fixed the date for the execution of Louise Thomas, a negro, convicted of murder in Philadelphia, for the week beginning Oct. 28.

The last woman executed in Pennsylvania was Sarah J. Whitting, Philadelphia who was hanged in 1889. Kate Edwards, convicted of murder in the first degree in 1905, was pardoned after more than 12 years, the various governors refusing to sign her death warrant.

BOBBED HAIR GIRL AND PAL HELD FOR ROBBERY

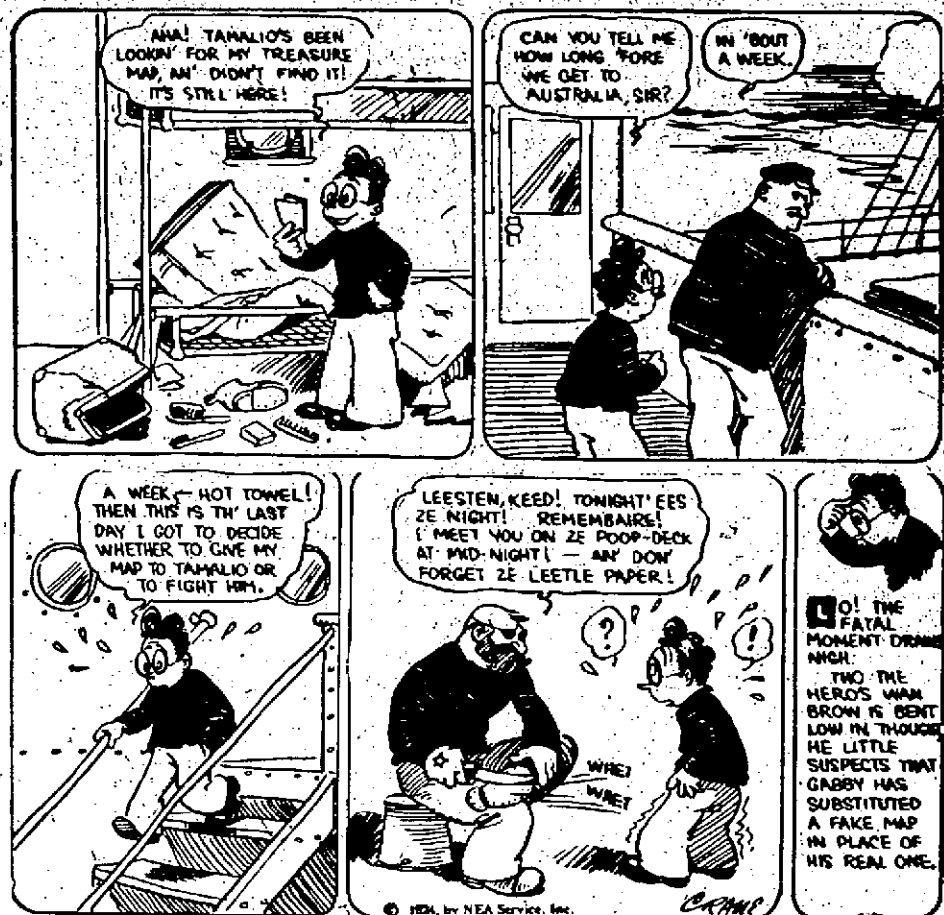

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 15.—Miss Violet O. Mitchell of Manchester and Adrian Hawes, also of Manchester, the former a bobbed-haired girl of 18, were arraigned in police court here today and pleaded not guilty to a charge of highway robbery and waited examination. Both were bound over to the October term of superior court with bail to be set by the superior court. The pair came under arrest in Newport late last Friday night following a robbery in Salisbury with which they are charged.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 1

The sun was just starting to peek through the jungle when Jack Daw, who was camping in a jungle open space with the captain and two sailors of the good ship Betsy Claire, woke up. A fire was blazing right out in front of the little adventurer and the main native guide was throwing fresh sticks on it.

"Did you make that fire this morning?" asked Jack. "Oh, no," replied the guide. "This blaze has been burning all night. If we had let it go out some of the jungle wild animals might have attacked us." And then Jack told the guide to lie down and snooze while he kept the fire going.

Of course, when Jack woke up Flip and Flop jumped up with him. When the little adventurer started throwing sticks on the big blaze Flop ran around and gathered up more firewood. Flip felt that he needed some exercise so he ran around barking at little birds that were in nearby trees. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"NICE SHOES YOU SELL, MISTER SNIP SNAP!" SHE SAID FINALLY

"Say, Mister Snip Snap," said Nancy one morning, "school opened today, so I don't suppose we need to keep our store open any more, do we?" "Hey! What's that, what's that?" cried the little fairytale in surprise. "What did you say about not keeping the store open any more?" "I just said," repeated Nancy, "that the Meadow Grove school opened today, because Nick and I saw Mister Scribble Scratch, the schoolmaster, dusting off the seals as we passed. He said he was going to ring the bell at half past eight, because it always took Money Muddle a whole half hour to get there, and as it was he supposed he'd be late."

"Just so," nodded Mister Snip Snap, but what has that got to do with closing our store, I'd like to know?" "Everybody is all fixed for school today," said Nick. "There isn't anybody left to sell things to."

"Well, I declare!" cried Mister Snip Snap. "I declare to goodness! Is that all you know about school things? Suppose you think those things we sold to the children and the rest are all naturally going to last them the rest of their lives. Well, we'll keep the store open for a few days, and see what happens. Why, my goodness, school shoes wear out quicker than a hot pavement. Just you sit my dear, just you wait!"

Sure enough!

About three days later who should come into the store of Nancy, Nick Company, but Mrs. Cottontail. She

IN NEW YORK

BY STEPHEN HANNIGAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Willard Huntington Wright, an author who writes of the latest happenings in New York hasn't been out of his quarters in an uptown hotel for more than a year. He is ill.

Yet, each day he keeps in complete touch with the world that swirls about him. It would seem he would be dependent on numerous friends to supply him with latest foibles of a fickle New York public. But he isn't.

His only human contacts are bell-boys, waiters, chambermaids and an assistant manager of the hotel in which he lives. He refuses to see all others and is consistently emphatic in his refusal to make new friends. He is married but his wife and child live in California.

Wright reads every newspaper and practically every important and recognized publication. In this fashion he refreshes his mind with the world's doings.

Although he has not attended a theatre or concert in many months he is familiar with all current music through a talking machine. He buys and plays all the phonograph records. Systematically efficient in everything he does, Wright works many hours a day. Just now he is in the midst of three novels. I am told. Two of them deal with highly technical subjects and the third, a mystery story, is being sandwiched between them.

Wright was born in California and is described as having a most pleasing personality and enthusiastic outlook despite his year's imprisonment because of his health.

A "man came out of the West to conquer New York."

Starting with a one-room print shop not so many years ago his plants now occupy two city blocks in Chicago, his home.

John P. Cuneo is the man. He is the son of a wealthy wholesale fruit merchant—but he worked out his own business salvation.

He prints 20,000,000 magazines each month, not to mention books and the catalogue of a large mail order house. Cuneo, regarded as the biggest individual periodical publisher in the world is only 35 years old.

He is blond and good natured, possessed of the most disarming smile you ever saw, and is sincere.

The many little soft drink places—perfectly legitimate shops—that have followed in the wake of prohibition, have stolen a trick from the old corner saloon.

Milk is forced into a glass with air, when you call for a glass of quenching goblet of the cow's famous product, and it bubbles and foams, like the four per cent beer of yesterday.

If you let it settle a moment the air bubbles out and you have an inch less milk to drink.

It took two doctors two hours to get a quarter of a dollar away from William Mead, 10. He swallowed the quarter. They conducted the operation.

THE CARE OF THE FEET

"After a day of considerable walking, and the feet become tired or inflamed bathe them in hot antiseptic solution for 15 or 20 minutes." Mr. Man was advised when his feet were troubling him.

"When the feet have been dried exfoliations and callouses can be rubbed off with a coarse towel."

"After this thoroughly massage the feet, using some healing foot lotion. An antiseptic solution can be used if the skin is naturally moist or soft."

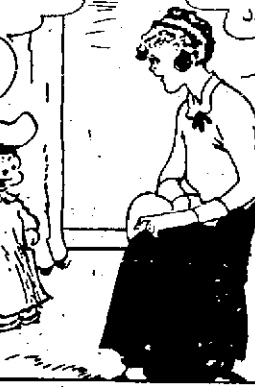

There is not a great deal to be done for perspiring feet unless it is so excessively as to become annoying.

The best day-in-and-day-out treatment is a good bath in astringent and antiseptic solutions. Frequent changes of stockings in which foot powder has been scattered is about the best home treatment.

Cold and clammy feet must be blamed on the general physical condition and not the feet themselves.

ELIMINATION OF WAR MORE LIQUOR CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Important Progress Made
Says Pres. Coolidge In
Message to Legion

"God Bless You All," Said
Cablegram of Greeting
From Cardinal Mercier

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—Highly important progress has been made toward elimination of war from the world, President Coolidge declared in a letter of greeting read to the American Legion convention yesterday.

The president's communication, expressing regret that he could not attend, praised the part played by Legionnaires both in war and in peace, "a record of unselfish readiness to serve."

The "heavy drafts upon the loyalty and patriotism of those able to defend" this country, the president said, "always have been gloriously met, but the meeting of them has brought suffering and tragedy beyond all accounting."

"It has represented a burden that must not again be laid upon the young manhood of the nation, save in circumstances which make it absolutely unavoidable."

The thought of the world, turning increasingly toward peace, its preservation and perpetuation, I am glad to say to the Legion that this thought is more and more finding leadership and direction.

"We are justified as never before in the hope for great accomplishments through the co-operation of the nations in the ways of peace. Highly important progress is making along the road which leads to the elimination of war from this world."

Responding to addresses of welcome in behalf of Commander Quinn, James T. Williams, Jr., editor of the Boston Transcript, urged opposition to "attempts by any clerical bloc, in the name of the church, to meddle with the business of the state."

"Universally, with which Defense Day was observed," he said, "attests the righteous indignation of the American people at the attempt of an autocracy of the cloth to set in a country a government of clerical bloc."

The opening session presented a colorful setting, with several thousand delegates forming a patch built effect. Commander Quinn was given an ovation when he concluded his address, and a similar demonstration was given Mrs. Bishop, national president of the Legionnaires, when she presented "God bless you all," said a cablegram of greeting from Cardinal Mercier of Belgium.

"The Legion," said the president, "has earned the right to succeed to all that this path has contributed to the founding, preservation, and stability of American institutions."

WHY YOU NEED A TONIC IN THE FALL

During the summer months many people do not eat the energy building foods which their systems require, and with the increase of activities in the fall they are using up more tissue than they get replaced, so that they quickly get thin and run down and find that they get tired easily or catch cold frequently. This means that they must have a food tonic to rebuild their exhausted strength and energy.

The logical food tonic for just this condition is Father John's Medicine which is based upon a number of food factors for many years has been accepted by doctors for rebuilding strength and health. These food elements in Father John's Medicine are so prepared that the system quickly takes them up and turns them into new tissue, new energy, fresh and strong. This is known as the greatest body builder and has had a history of more than fifty years' success in similar illness. It cures, cures free from alcohol, or any other drug in any form. Adv.

GOVERNOR AL. SMITH MAY SPEAK HERE

An attempt is being made by the local democratic organization to bring Governor Al Smith to New York, candidate for president in the recent convention to this city on Oct. 1. Through the courtesy of County Commissioner Barlow, a neat blue-print (revised) of the proposed new district court building in Hurd street is now on display in Clerk's office. ## R. I. COLLEGE OPENS ON BORROWED MONEY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 16.—The Rhode Island State college at Kingsford will open tomorrow on money loaned by the Audubon National bank of Newport, which will continue to advance the necessary funds for the support of the college until the general assembly can pass the annual appropriation bill now held up by the democratic filibuster in the senate. In order to keep down the expense, the entering class has been limited to 150. The expenses of the last few weeks of the 1923-24 college year were met by several of the trustees, who advanced the money from their private fortunes. But none of the trustees are wealthy enough to continue to do so for a whole college year, and for a time there was some uncertainty about opening the college at the usual time. The Newport bank, however, has promised to aid until the large amount of money the state has in the banks here released by the passage by the senate of the regular appropriation bill which is actually acted upon by both branches early in the year.

A fire in the City Wall Paper company's store at 305 Middlesex street last evening slightly damaged the basement and the wall paper stock in the store was damaged to some extent by smoke. The fire was discovered at 12:15 o'clock and the blaze originated in rubbish under a stairway and was confined to the section in which it started. The recall was sounded at 11:10 o'clock.

The store is owned by Najoma Hackett of 131 School street, who has been caring for the store in connection with the past several weeks. Mrs. Hackett has been in charge of the store during his absence and was the last to leave the store last night, looking up at 9:30 o'clock when, she said, everything was apparently all right.

A carelessly thrown cigarette is believed by District Chief Sullivan to have been the cause of the fire.

MacMillan Back

Last night, the civic authorities who had planned to welcome the returning explorers were taken by surprise. But Mayor James MacMillan, who had been in the city since the morning, was the first to greet the explorers. He was the first to greet the explorers. He was the first to greet the explorers.

The question for science, MacMillan said, is why stations in the north-west can conserve clearly with the Bowdoin while the nearer and more powerful Cape Breton stations fail to get through. He said that he had heard by radio of the discovery of "white Indians" in Panama. They are Albinos, he declared, "white Eskimos. I've seen lots of them. They only mean that some other white man has been there ahead of you—they're half breed."

The Bowdoin brings back in addition to much scientific data in the fields of geology, meteorology and ornithology, a great variety of furs, Eskimo canoes, arms and carved ivory. She also carries a pair of young blue foxes, three full grown dogs, and a half dozen puppets and many specimens of the fauna and flora of the Arctic regions.

Four Eskimos accompanied the explorer on the explorations together with several dogs. They were picked up at various points on the way north and dropped again on the way back. An interesting figure among the natives was that of a man who was Dr. Cook's guide, Captain MacMillan said that Cook is well remembered by the natives who, he said, laugh at his claims, declaring that he spent the winter on Jones Sound, 500 miles south of the North pole.

Referring to his precaution made in 1922 that the Labrador gold rush would fall, MacMillan told of meeting one group of explorers, heavily bearded, who had sworn not to shave until they had found gold.

The Bowdoin is in first-class condition except that a plank in the bottom was broken when she was thrown on the rocks while the crew was saving and breaking their way out of Refuge Harbor on the start of the trip south. She is taking no water, however, and slight repairs will put her into as good condition as on her previous voyage. The little schooner has proved herself practically ice-proof. MacMillan declared, running full tilt into a berg on the way northward without suffering any damage.

S., last night, after a hard trip across the Gulf of St. Lawrence from the Newfoundland coast, expected to reach here Saturday afternoon as he had planned. In a radio message he reported the weather as clear and that he would leave Sydney today.

Hiram P. Maxim, president of the American Radio Relay league, responded to a personal tribute to him from Captain MacMillan who stated the value of the radio to Arctic explorers. Mr. Maxim's message sent early today by radio from station 1-WO, read: "Congratulations to you and your gallant crew on getting clear of the ice. Keep the prow of the little Bowdoin pointed south from now on. Royal welcome awaits you when you dock at Wiscasset. We will all be there."

TWO VESSELS COLLIDE, CAPTAIN DIES OF SHOCK

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—When his vessel collided with another steamer in the thick fog that blanketed Boston harbor early today, Captain Charles J. Bloomquist of the ferryboat Newton, in the Boston, Haver Beach & Lynn railroad service, collapsed and died. Physicians said that death was due to the sudden shock. He was 50 years old and lived at Winthrop.

The Newton, feeling her way across the harbor to East Boston, collided with a sister ship, the Ashburnham, just outside the ferry slip on the east shore. Twenty feet of the port rail of the Ashburnham were torn off but none of the passengers were injured. On her next trip over from Boston the Ashburnham ran into the fishing schooner, Commonweath outside the fish pier. This time the paddle wheel of the ferryboat was damaged and she was withdrawn from the service for repairs.

Upon all times was one at Prince Rupert operated by an amateur named Barnsley.

Peking Government Despatches 3000 Well Armed and Equipped Troops to Aid Defending Forces—Fight Waist Deep in Water
SHANGHAI, Sept. 15. (By the Associated Press).—Reinforcements from the Peking government, to be thrown into battle against the Chinese forces defending Shanghai, were reported at Wusih, 84 miles west of here, at 11:45 p. m. last Sunday, according to a messenger from the Kiangsu front, who returned here today. The troops, 3000 in number, were well armed and equipped and were moving toward the Shanghai front in two special trains on the Shanghai-Nanking railway, the messenger said. Wounded Kiangsu troops returning from the Liuhoo front, where a fierce battle was in progress today for possession of territory adjacent to Wusih, enter anchorage at Shanghai, told Dr. F. A. #### SEN. PUTNAM TO BE NAMED HEAD OF STATE COMMISSION

Homer Loring, Chairman of State Commission on Administration of Finance, to Resign—Sen. Putnam of Lowell Slated to Succeed Him

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Homer Loring, chairman of the state commission on administration of finance and finance, is to resign and give all his time to his duties as chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Boston & Maine railroad, it was learned today. It was understood that he would probably complete the work of preparing the next budget before giving up his work. Senator Frank H. Putnam of Lowell, who withdrew after being renominated in the republican primaries last week, is understood to be slated to succeed Mr. Loring.

FRANK H. PUTNAM

The above-stated probability of Senator Putnam's appointment is taken as the reason for the recent withdrawal of his candidacy for re-election from the Essex district. Mr. Putnam withdrew from the contest after winning an unopposed nomination and at a nominating convention held in Liberty hall last Saturday night. Walter Perham of Chelsea was named to succeed him on the ballot.

Because of Senator Putnam's close connections with state executives it has been believed for some time that he would receive some such appointment.

An effort to reach him this afternoon for personal confirmation of the probability of his appointment was unsuccessful.

Head of Dominion Telegraph Had Been in Comatose Condition for a Week

Ticking of Private Morse Code Call on Instrument Restores Consciousness

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 15.—The ticking of his private Morse code call at an instrument by his bedside last night restored to consciousness J. T. Phelan, superintendent of the Dominion Telegraph company here, after he had been in a comatose condition nearly a week.

Superintendent Phelan was ill for weeks following the death of his wife and had been unconscious since then. On the suggestion of a physician an instrument was installed by Phelan's side and "P.N." his private call, ticked off. Mr. Phelan smiled and opened his eyes when the ticker announced "Every day in every way." The ticker suggested that Phelan reach out his hand for the glass and took the first nourishment in six days. He was reported convalescent today.

The program of the day included golf in the forenoon for all members who came to play. A buffet luncheon was served at the club house between 12 and 2 o'clock, with a baseball game and other sports on the afternoon call.

The importation of a number of the finest whistles in the east made a series of races between teams one of the feature events of the entertainment program.

The Boston members of the association brought along a band to provide music during the luncheon hour and a prominent concert featured the afternoon program.

Prominent among the association officers responsible for the outing was Frank F. Montgomery of Boston, chairman of the reception committee.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and how she was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps them when other medicines have failed."

Mrs. Gus Vogel, 6608 Pelee St., Detroit, Michigan.
A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets, easy to take and guaranteed to be free from opiates or narcotics.

STEPHEN ABBOTT DEAD

Well Known Business Man
Died Suddenly Yesterday
In His Office

Stephen W. Abbott, president and treasurer of the Burnham & Davis Lumber Co., and widely known business man, died suddenly in his office in Western avenue shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He succumbed to a heart attack. His age was 48 years and his home was at 94 Princeton street. It was just prior to 5 o'clock that office assistants noticed he had fallen forward in his chair and hurriedly summoned a physician, but before he reached there Mr. Abbott had died.

Practically all of Mr. Abbott's life had been spent in the lumber business. He came to Lowell in 1856 as a foreman for the firm of Burnham, Forrester & Davis. He was later made manager of the company and on the death of Mr. Burnham became a half owner through the purchase of the Burnham stock. Mr. Abbott was made president in the process of reorganization and Mr. Davis, treasurer. In May, 1910, Mr. Davis died and Mr. Abbott became sole owner.

Mr. Abbott was born in Somersworth, N. H., Feb. 27, 1858. Most of his boyhood was spent on a farm in Albion, Me. When 20 years of age he went to Dover, N. H., and had his first taste of lumber work with the firm of Converse & Hobbs.

In 1882 Mr. Abbott went to North Carolina with Mr. Hobbs and formed the New Market Lumber Co. Three years later he returned north and was associated with the firm of lumber enterprises in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. It was while working as foreman for J. F. Paul Co. in Boston that he received the offer to come to Lowell.

Mr. Abbott was a director of the Lowell Co-operative bank, a member of the Lowell chamber of commerce and the Highland club.

He is survived by his wife, Abbie M., a daughter, Mrs. Edgar H. Douglas, a brother, Ashman R. Abbott of Albion, Me., and three grandchildren, Elmer A., Phyllis W. and Stephen A. Douglas, all of this city.

Perjury Trial Is Halted

Frank D. Thompson ordered her to say whether she accompanied Walter V. Phelps, the plaintiff in the suit, to the Pacific coast and whether she had been visiting relatives in Massachusetts. It was upon this testimony the judge ordered a bench warrant issued on the perjury charge. Judge Thompson at that time held that as Mrs. Phelps had answered other questions along similar lines she had automatically waived her constitutional rights.

Judge Frank L. Fish, of Vergennes, pending the present trial, asked many questions of attorneys regarding the former trial and said he had supposed the correct method of the witness would have been to refuse to answer at the judge's direction, allow herself to be taken into custody whereupon the question could have been determined by habeas corpus proceedings. Mr. Seabury answered that it was not right to expect a witness to know the intricacies of the law or what might not be done in such a situation. He declared it as his belief that court in reaching its decision on the witness would have to confine itself to the information on which the arrest and the trial is based. This information details certain parts of Mrs. Wood's testimony but not all of it. The fight is to get all the testimony before the jury.

Court took a premature recess during which authorities submitted to Judge Fish for consideration a proposed ruling on the objection. The jury was completed after court opened at 9 o'clock.

PACT OF ARBITRATION AND SECURITY

GENEVA, Sept. 15. (By the Associated Press).—Interest in the forenoon in Geneva centered in a meeting of a sub-committee of the disarmament commission of the League of Nations assembly at which Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia was to present his carefully elaborated draft pact of arbitration and security.

The draft continues the outlines of a document which, in the form of a resolution, protocol or treaty, is to form the basis for the convocation of a disarmament conference after it has been signed or ratified by enough powers to assure that security without which any disarmament conference, it is felt, would be doomed to failure.

The progress made in reconciling the French and British viewpoints under the auspices of conciliatory manipulation is felt to be so considerable as to warrant the belief that the negotiations may be brought forward by the Italian, Scandinavian or South American members of the sub-committee will be speedily froned out and their helpful suggestions rapidly incorporated in the document being formulated.

Then sports will be run off under the direction of James Creagan, chairman of the sports and entertainment committee. ## OUT OUR WAY

PLAN OBSERVANCE OF NAVY DAY HERE

At a special meeting of the Lowell Navy club last evening, Fred J. Emerson, chairman of the meeting, appointed a committee of five to arrange a program for Navy Day, Oct. 27. At the present time negotiations are under way with the naval authorities in Boston for the arrangements of boat races on the Merrimack river for Navy Day. The committee consists of Fred J. Emerson, chairman; Horatio B. Leggett, J. Omer Allard, Harold J. O'Brien and Francis H. Coward.

AVOIDING COLDS

"Obey the ordinary rules of hygiene if you would avoid a cold," recommended the Mann family doctor.

"Except where nasal defects exist there should be no trouble with recurring colds if a person is living hygienically."

Here are a few points that might be written down and remembered in this connection:

Most people realize that exposure and chilling are likely to produce colds. This is due to a disturbance of circulation brought about through the nerve centres controlling skin circulation which are over-sensitive and feel an immediate reaction.

Now if the skin is put in good shape there is a good chance of overcoming this. Bathing in cool water, with its accompanying reaction, will help build up skin resistance. Getting gradually accustomed to gentle drafts also will help.

Another stunt is to stand in a foot of hot water and rub the body briskly with a good rough washcloth that has been wrung out in water of a temperature of 80 degrees.

Each day reduce the temperature of the water until it reaches 50 degrees. After the rubdown dash cool water on the body.

RUB WITH MILK

If you feel your brown shoes are too light, darken them by rubbing them with milk and ammonia. Then polish with a dry cloth.

GAINS 35 POUNDS ON THE TANLAC TREATMENT

Well Known New England
Lady Gives Medicine Full
Credit for Saving Her Life

"My case has been given up as hopeless, so I do not hesitate to give Tanlac credit for saving my life," is the far-reaching statement of Mrs. Isabelle R. Harding, esteemed resident of 22 Lynwood St., Brookville, Mass.

"Furthermore," she continued, "Tanlac did not stop at saving my life, for it increased my weight from 97 lbs. to 132 lbs. and left me enjoying the best of health."

"Five years ago, while living in Seattle, Wash., I was taken so ill that no one thought I could live. Complications resulting from stomach trouble brought me down to my bed and I could not even walk two steps. In fact I was so far gone that I thought my end had come and I even went so far as to bid my husband and children good-bye. Nobody will ever know what I went through, for words just simply cannot describe it."

"One day, after I had been in bed six weeks, my husband brought me a bottle of Tanlac. I finished this bottle and feeling some better, so I got more and kept on improving until I had used 10 bottles and then I was a well and happy woman. My recovery was so miraculous as to astonish those who knew how bad off I was. I am now enjoying the best of health and while I am 53 I really don't feel over 40. The First Telephone and Some of Its Successors

New England and the Telephone

THE telephone was born in Boston, was sponsored by New England brains and New England capital, and from this corner of the United States started out on its world-wide career.

As an agency of distribution, our service ranks with that of the railroads. Every business man is concerned quite as deeply with the problem of distribution as he is with the problem of manufacturing.

We believe we are of service in helping to bring to New England the raw material necessary to its factories, and in helping to distribute the finished products not only throughout New England, but to all quarters of the world.

Telephone service means to us the completion of 5,000,000 calls per day right here in New England. It is our desire to handle this immense volume of business expeditiously and correctly. To do this requires not merely adequate equipment maintained to a high standard of perfection, but also individual team play of the highest order by 25,000 employees.

We are preparing to play a larger part in the advancement of New England and the development of its enterprises.

N. E. CAN LOOK TO FUTURE OF ITS COMMERCE WITH CONFIDENCE

Dr. Klein Says Every State In New England Showed Substantial Increase in Exports for Second Quarter of 1924—Totalled $90,000,000

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Each one of the New England states showed a substantial increase in the value of foreign shipments for the second quarter of 1924 over the earlier months of the year. Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, said in an address last night at the convention of the Order of New England Workers in Mechanics building. The meeting was held as part of the program of New England week, a movement to present New England products to New England people.

Quoting hitherto unpublished figures, Dr. Klein said that New England exports amounted to $90,000,000 for six months ending June 30. Massachusetts, he said, increased its export trade for the second three months of 1924 over the preceding three months by $2,936,723; Connecticut by $440,402; Maine by $252,860; Rhode Island by $392,155; New Hampshire by $306,413; and Vermont by $130,217, a total increase for six states of over $5,250,000.

"New England can look to the future of its commerce with confidence," declared Dr. Klein, speaking on behalf of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, whose personal greetings he brought to the "All New England Week Convention." In support of this optimistic view Dr. Klein not only cited recent trade figures, which showed the value of New England exports to be increasing, but emphasized the significance of stabilized conditions in western states and the importance of European economic recovery.

"While New England may find inspiration in looking backward to a past filled with brilliant achievements in industry and commerce, I believe she can turn her eyes to the future with a fine confidence in equally brilliant achievements to come," declared Dr. Klein. "The stabilization of conditions in the agricultural sections of the west is already reaching favorably upon the New England trade in manufactured products. It has been estimated that the purchasing power of the western farmer will be increased this year by approximately a billion dollars. This money will not be hoarded. It will be used to replenish stocks, to make improvements and extensions, to back new enterprise. And however it is used there will be a demand for products made in this section. But New England cannot wait for this new business to come to her. New England's good name and her good will are great in the minds of trade but name plates have to be burnished and good will renewed more frequently these days. New England must step out and assert this business."

Hopeful Condition in Europe

"The hopeful condition in Europe with its promise of economic restoration is equally certain to open up again to this section markets which have been closed for several years. It is doubtless true that the western farmer will profit greatly by increased importation of American food products, and this is a good thing not only for the western farmer, but for the New England manufacturer because as has been cited, increased purchasing power in the west means stimulated demand for the manufactured products of this section."

"But Europe does not import only our cereals and other products of the soil. Last year the United States exported to all the world cotton goods valued at $138,045,354. Of this total $18,078,095 went to Europe. New England produces 46 per cent. of the cotton goods manufactured in the United States. During 1923 the United States exported miscellaneous rubber goods except footwear and tires valued at $32,000,798. Of this total $12,455,000 went to Europe. New England produces 46 per cent. of this merchandise manufactured in the United States. Last year we exported a total of $17,516,339 in boots and shoes. Of this total $2,351,501 went to Europe. New England produces more than 40 per cent. of the boots and shoes made in the United States. During 1923 we exported textile machinery to the value of $9,043,677. Of this $2,672,153 went to Europe. New England makes 75 per cent. of the textile machinery produced in the United States. During 1923 we exported $4,713,327 in rubber boots and shoes. Of this $1,285,933 went to Europe. New England produces 67 per cent. of the rubber boots and shoes made in this country. Last year we exported wooden goods valued at $7,877,538. Of this $4,015,519 went to Europe. New England produces 66 per cent. of the wooden goods made in the United States."

"It ought to be clear to even those who are concerned about European competition that New England must profit directly by the new most hopeful aspect of affairs across the Atlantic."

"It is interesting to note further that New England produces about 70 per cent. of all the boot and shoe findings turned out in the United States; 52 per cent. of worsted goods; 67 per cent. of plate ware; 62 per cent.

of silver ware; 57 per cent. of suspenders, garters and elastic webbing; and 55 per cent. of combs and hairpins. While some of these commodities do not appear in a prominent place in export figures they are, nevertheless, important in the domestic market."

Exports Amount to $90,000,000

"New England exports amounted to $90,000,000 for the six months ending June 30," stated Dr. Klein, citing hitherto unpublished figures. "And each one of the New England states showed a substantial increase in the value of foreign shipments for the second quarter of 1924 over the earlier months of the year."

"According to the statistics figures which the department of commerce will release tomorrow, Massachusetts led the New England field with exports during the second quarter of the year with $30,855,409 as compared with $27,998,688; Connecticut followed with exports valued at $8,466,781; Rhode Island with $5,516,338; New Hampshire with $5,516,338; then came Rhode Island with $5,516,338 in the second quarter of the year, compared with $3,141,093 the first quarter; New Hampshire followed with $1,661,512 as compared with $1,355,099; Maine came next with $1,559,672 as compared with $1,053,812; and Vermont brought up the rear with $254,670 as compared with $194,453."

"Massachusetts increased its export trade for the second three months of 1924 over the preceding three months by $2,936,723; Connecticut by $440,402; Maine by $252,860; Rhode Island by $392,155; New Hampshire by $306,413; and Vermont by $130,217—a total increase for the six states of over $5,250,000."

"In Massachusetts we find increasing exports of cotton cloth and shoes; Connecticut showed gains in its exports of hardware, electrical machinery, tools and machinery and in its exports of shoes; Rhode Island's improvement was comprised largely of shipments of cotton cloth, tools, and rubber-soled canvas shoes. New Hampshire exported chiefly leather goods, leather boots, leather shoes and shoes, mining and oil well machinery, and sulphur wood pulp; while Vermont showed larger exports of scales and balances, and household goods."

"The total export trade for the first six months of 1924 for all the states and possessions of the United States was slightly over $2,000,000,000, and of this amount $90,000,000 was New England's share. This is generally noteworthy when it is considered that New England exports were nearly all the products of home manufacture, whereas a considerable proportion of the export business of other states is for foreign goods. During the first six months of 1924 New England exports were nearly all the products of home manufacture, whereas a considerable proportion of the export business of other states is for foreign goods."

Attracting Business of Other States

"In this matter of attracting the export business of other states for routing through New England ports, I know a fine work has been done by the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Traffic Club of New England."

Sometimes in Washington, however, we wonder how much real get-together New England co-operation these organizations are getting in the general efforts to develop the port of Boston, when ocean shipping men tell us that manufacturers within motor haul of Boston forward their products by rail to other ports, and on the other hand, when New England manufacturers who desire to ship from Boston find they cannot get ship space because not enough cargo is laid down to secure regular sailings. If this condition exists, of course, it is fundamental and must be solved before New England can move ahead to such export service developments as have in recent years proved so successful in the case of the South Atlantic ports. These southern ports are advertising in a systematic way export port services which undertake to make a shipment from the middle west to Latin America or Europe via their particular gateways no more venturesome a project than putting a consignment on the rails to Chicago."

"The department of commerce, which I have the honor to represent here, will not only lend its every facility to developing the business of the port of Boston, but it is eager to assist in many other phases of New England's export problem. Notwithstanding ample evidence in our Washington files that the business men of New England are acquainted with the facilities of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, I feel that I may be privileged to give you a bird's-eye view of our work in order that any of you who are unacquainted with it may take advantage of its service. The bureau serves the farmer, the shoe manufacturer, the mill-owner, the leather tanner, ship builder, machinery or tool merchant, export agent or banker. It reaches out through its forty foreign offices, collecting practical trade information which is then assembled in Washington, and disseminated throughout the United States, our forty-three branch offices playing an important part in this latter operation."

"Dollars and Cents" Assistance

"That the bureau has already made some impression in the American industrial and commercial world may be deduced from the fact that while in 1921 it was receiving calls for information of all kinds to the extent of seven hundred a day, at present it handles over six thousand daily inquiries for trade information. In an annual expenditure of less than $3,000,000, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is providing to the American business man, whether he be farmer, manufacturer, or exporter, 'dollars and cents' assistance in business operations that are conservatively estimated to aggregate over $50,000,000 each year."

"Here in New England you have one of our district offices in Boston, and co-operative offices located in Providence, Worcester and Bridgeport. These four branches are the link connecting the business men of New England through our Washington office organization with a staff of expert strategists commercial centers abroad. That New England is not unappreciative of this service is shown by the $8,466,781 in exports handled by the Boston district office during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, as compared with $4,142 the preceding year, and $3,522 in 1922."

"Requests for information of the widest range and reaching the remotest parts of the globe are received and handled by the Boston office and we take a pardonable pride in some of its accomplishments. For example, one firm reports that though it had been in touch with our office for only 50 days, orders had been received from 13 different countries. Numerous New England firms have reported additional business throughout the service. Boston rubber company having received $25,000 in recent months, and a leather concern reporting

THE BABY OF THE BAND

Smallest of One Hundred Musicians and Soloists With Sousa's Band

It is doubtful if more than a few hundred people ever heard the famed harp "that once thrummed halls," but upwards of two millions of Americans each season for the past several years have heard its twentieth century equivalent, played by Miss Leslie Rice. It is the harp soloist for the Sousa organization, and she is a figure of unusual interest when she appears in a bright frock against the background of the one hundred sombre-clad musicians who make up the Sousa ensemble.

Miss Brambrick is probably the only woman who has been a harp soloist with a band, and her instrument, usually seen only in connection with an orchestra, is but one of the many things which Miss Sousa has added into her program. Her appearance with the Sousa organization, of course, is due to the fact that she is one of the best harpists in America of either sex, and Miss Brambrick's solo are one of the features of the Sousa program which are certain to be widely acclaimed. But she is more than a mere soloist. Miss Brambrick is the only woman soloist with the Sousa organization who maintains her place on the platform throughout the program, and during the band numbers she performs an important service which Sousa describes as maintaining liaison between the reed sections and the brass. For some reason, not well understood either by Sousa or by sound experts, who are not musicians, the presence of the harp makes a difference in the "finished product" of the Sousa presentation which is readily noticeable if Miss Brambrick finds it necessary to cease playing for a few bars to tighten a string, upon her instrument, and of all instruments, the harp, with its susceptibility to weather and atmospheric conditions is most difficult to keep in exact pitch.

Miss Brambrick was born in Canada, and like all of the Sousa soloists, received her training entirely in America. Her present engagement may be a farewell one, as she has entered into a contract with Lionel Powell, the London concert manager, for an engagement abroad. Tickets are going fast for the appearance of her next Monday night of Sousa and His Band, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. The concert is an extra in the Steiner Concert Series, and tickets may be secured at their local store.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Showing themselves a strong, well-balanced company, the Stanley James players opened the 1924-25 stock season last night at the Lowell Opera House, presenting the hilarious Broadway hit, "Just Married," before an audience that took its seat in the little playhouse and that was delighted from the opening curtain until the exit march. Large numbers of city officials, the Rotary club and other organizations were present in addition to the usual large number of first-timers. Everything ran off smoothly. Mr. James was given a rousing reception when he appeared on the stage to introduce members of his company.

systematic expansion of its foreign business through the bureau's reports on European conditions and prospective foreign buyers.

Super-Power Survey

"The department of commerce is keenly interested in New England's economic welfare. To digress for a moment from the subject of promoting commerce, I would call your attention to the super-power survey undertaken by Secretary Hoover, which has a direct and important significance to the economic well-being of all New England. The demand for electrical energy in this territory is increasing at the amazing rate of 10 per cent each year. Experts declare that when all the available water power in the area is developed it can supply only one-quarter of the demand. Principal dependence must, therefore, be placed, if we are to judge by present prospects and facilities, upon generation of power by fuel. The super-power survey, to which I have referred, showed that interconnection of steam and of hydro electric plants over the entire area will provide sufficient reliable power to meet the growing demands. Already the principle of interconnection has been applied and many of the large electric companies of this region are co-operating to develop facilities adequate to meet future requirements."

"However, the department of commerce has no disposition to make New England feel dependence upon any government or outside agency for her economic well-being. We may help, but it is up to New England to keep herself on the industrial and commercial map as she is now doing so well, sometimes under adverse conditions. You have here, perhaps, the finest manufacturing technique and skilled workers in all the world. You have given birth in this region to more successful business brains than has any other part of the country, for it was here that the industrial and commercial beginnings of the country were made. Modern international trade with its complexities of organization and administration and its intensified competitions calls for the skilled worker, progressive manufacturing technique and business brains. These New England possesses in high degree. They are assets that will survive any temporary setback or depression. They have always been the most prized resources of every nation which has made industrial or commercial life. New England need only apply them to the tasks of a world virtually remade in the last decade."

Besides the address of Dr. Klein, those at the convention heard speeches broadcast from Springfield by Governor Channing G. May of Massachusetts, Governor Charles A. Templeton of Connecticut, Governor Fred P. Brown of New Hampshire, Lt. Governor Felix Tourin of Rhode Island, Governor-elect Ralph O. Brewster of Maine and Governor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston were other speakers.

and in return gave a fine short speech that added just the final touch to a splendid program."

The show itself, from the pen of Ann Nichols, author of "Able's Irish Rose," is well known as one of stagecraft's greatest successes in the field of love and humor. Let it suffice to say that it was intelligently interpreted and well played by a company that seems to have endeavored to Lowell in one night. One thing is noticeable about the new company—and every one finds it agreeable—and that is all young in years although they may some of them be well advanced in experience. Averaging up with other companies that have graced the home of the spoken drama some with good and others with indifferent success, the Stanley James company has youth in its favor, the entire personnel averaging much younger in years than any company that has appeared here in a score of years."

The company reflected some intense faithful rehearsal and not a slip marred the performance, the company members showing their experience and confidence by the capable and enthusiastic manner with which they handled the fun that was to them their work. Well, many a slip has led to a fall, and he calls himself Gerald Roman, adding that he likes to be known to his friends as "Jerry." He handled a long difficult part with ease last night and established himself in the good graces of his audience on his first bow. Wilmer Waiter and Franklin Munnell made favorable impressions and seem destined to grow in esteem.

Miss Leslie Rice, leading woman of the players, a vivacious, tantalizing young girl with a wealth of bobbed hair, pouted prettily and stormed terribly as her part demanded, but withal sent over the footlights a pleasant personality that is bound to wear well. She was ably supported by Edith Avery, the "agony" a small bit of a girl in an exacting part that she handled well. Miss Leslie Farrell almost turned the opening night into a "Miss Farrell night" because of the large number of friends and admirers in the audience who made their way from other cities just to witness her opening performance here. Surrounded by a basket after basket of flowers that came over the lights when she was introduced to the theatre patrons Miss Farrell was at a loss for words, but in doing her work she was the same talented capable actress that most of us remember so proudly."

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Will M. Crassy, one of the finest character actors now in vaudeville, returns to Lowell this week to present "The Village Lawyer," a whimsical, philosophical story of life in a New Hampshire village after the summer boarders have left. He is ably supported by Miss Alice Thornton and G. H. Lawyer really is just a scene from a Crassy novel, written some time ago and entitled, "The Hills of Hampshire," and in it are many, many homely anecdotes that make first-rate vaudeville stuff. Pretty much it follows a comedy line, but once or twice Mr. Crassy adds a touch of seriousness that makes for balance and continuity. He does not know much law, at least not $10 worth, which is the size of the retaining fee received by him for the first case he has handled in six months, but the $20 means the purchase of a car, something he has wanted for 10 years. In the end he does not get it, of course, for the $20 is given back and instead of legal advice the divorce-seeking client gets a sample of an old man's wisdom and is satisfied. It is a well handled sketch from start to finish. One of the most surprising and prettiest combinations of comedy, singing and dancing is found in "In the Swift," presented by Miss Alice Thornton and G. H. Lawyer. Continued to Page Nine

NEW ENGLAND WEEK

In Boston, in Lowell and every other city in New England, this week devoted to New England industrial interests, started off in good shape with fine displays of the products of factory and farm and an earnest endeavor to direct attention to the varied assortment of commodities New England produces. The great trouble with New England appears to be that her industrial products are not sufficiently known and advertised even among her own people. During this week the great factories will endeavor to familiarize the people with the vast variety of products turned out right here in New England, their sterling merit and comparatively moderate prices.

In Boston, attention is directed to the progress of the port, its trade and growth as the great outlet for New England products. Greater Boston is forging ahead, and it remains for other cities to follow its example. We are soon to have a greater Lowell to include several of the adjoining towns. The ever increasing number of automobiles enables us to get away from the center of congestion and thus relieve the traffic jam and leave more room for the people to move about in the business district. This may not come directly, but it is in line with the tendency of the times to move outward to the open, to get away from the narrow streets and crowded thoroughfares which were laid out long before the auto was heard of. They cannot be widened, but they can be relieved of a part of the crowding by constructing adequately wide thoroughfares farther out, first class through routes and wide highways leading to the towns that are eventually to become part of the greater Lowell.

In this New England week the towns adjoining Lowell are all interested in her industries and her progress. Thousands of people from the towns earn their livelihood in our workshops and factories but reside beyond our borders and hence do not pay taxes here. If they do not come to us, we shall go out to them and eventually unite with them as one community in the Greater Lowell. It is thus that every city by steady growth and expansion can build up a greater New England; but each city and town must do its share in the general forward movement.

There are business difficulties ahead to be sure and dull times are still with us; but by general co-operation for the common good, by self-confidence, by letting the world know what we have to offer, we can overcome present obstacles and hasten the return of prosperity. But to do this our New England residents must boost their own industries and aid them by their patronage. They can then with better grace appeal for outside patronage.

In his address before the convention of New England workers in Boston last night, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, showed that New England, and especially Massachusetts, is steadily increasing the amount of her exports, showing that even though slowly, the industries are steadily gravitating toward normal conditions. This movement may be aided by advertising New England goods even to her own people and by better co-operation in marketing her products. If New Englanders themselves do not patronize their own industries by purchase of their products, they need not be surprised if they find difficulty in disposing of them elsewhere.

U. S. SENATORIAL CONTEST

Apart from the election of president, the great contest before the two major political parties will be for control of the United States senate. There are thirty-two seats to be filled for the new congress taking office March 4 next. The republicans have nominal control of the senate with 50 seats, including the La Follette contingent, which is ranked as progressive or insurgent, and one seat vacant. The democrats have 43 seats and the farmer-labor party two. On this basis, it is estimated that the republicans to retain control of the senate must not lose more than three seats and to gain control the democrats must gain six seats. The democrats are confident of making material gains.

Senator Moses in a recent announcement after a tour of the states in which there are close contests for senatorial seats, said the republicans would win several senatorial seats which had been held by democrats. Moses is not recognized as a political prophet, however, and his work to aid in securing party control in the senate is probably expected to offset his unfriendly attitude to President Coolidge. He was one of the senators who at first were opposed to Coolidge, but who later saw fit to change their minds in regard to his candidacy. Anyhow, Moses included the seat occupied by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts among those which he said the republicans can win. In this he shows greater confidence than most of the leaders at Washington who believe that the republicans, not even with the hand-picked candidate of the White House, can defeat Senator Walsh. The election of the White House as to the outcome is being represented by the supporters of Louis A. Coolidge and Congressman Dallinger, one of whom would have been nominated but for Washington interference.

Other states in which, according to Moses, the republicans expect to win, are Oklahoma, Colorado, Kentucky and possibly also Tennessee.

The hope is entertained that the La Follette ticket will take more from the democrats than from the republicans, but in that the democrats will doubtless be mistaken. The possibility is there, however, and it must be met by democratic opposition and aggression if it is to be overcome.

It was announced by Senator Wheeler, the running mate of La Follette, that he would support Walsh, but while the senator has no alliance or understanding with the radicals, it is a fact that Wheeler on his tour of this state did not mention the senator and the latter is doubtless better pleased that he didn't.

The fight in this state will probably be the hottest for any seat contested by the republicans, not that Speaker Gillett is much of a campaigner, for he isn't; but to overcome the sentiment that he is Coolidge's man and should be elected. Senator Walsh will doubtless give a good account of his stewardship in a record of service to the people unequalled by that of any other New England senator. He should receive the cordial support of all service men as he has been one of the original advocates of adjusted compensation for the soldiers and never lost an opportunity to advance the cause, whether by his voice or vote. As for his opponent, Speaker Gillett, his position, except in rare cases, excused him from voting and so he is not recorded on the important measures on which the senators had to take a definite stand; but the fact that Gillett was selected as the opponent of Senator Walsh by President Coolidge and William M. Butler, offers conclusive proof that he is a man after their own heart. Despite the fact that the speaker of the house, the republican leader in the senate, the president and secretary of the war department are all New England men, they have done practically nothing for New England, and yet they have the hardihood to ask the voters of Massachusetts to elect Gillett to the senate and thus displace a senator who was an active and aggressive force working continually for the interests of Massachusetts and New England. We predict that in this reactionary movement they will be utterly defeated.

OUR POSTAL SERVICE

Very few people have any idea of the vastness of the business done by the postoffice department. It may be supposed that the postal department keeps a very large quantity of supplies on hand at all times and yet few people have any idea of the vastness of its needs in this respect. Just imagine a contract such as was let by the department at Washington last week to the Middle West Supply company of Dayton, Ohio, calling for twelve billion stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers. The contract beginning Jan. 1, calls for annual payments of $5,000,000 on condition that the company be prepared to deliver ten million envelopes and wrappers daily. If the postal department can dispose of that many envelopes and wrappers every day, it means that the carriers will have to deliver that number with the exception of those that are sent out of the country, evidently a small fraction of the whole. But it is not a fact that there are probably 500 private envelopes and wrappers used for every one that is obtained from the postoffice? Yet all these are delivered by the carriers who also deliver a great many packages of parcel post matter. Thus we may get a slight insight to the ubiquitous character of the work of Uncle Sam's postal employees.

FIRE PREVENTION

We are to have a fire prevention week October 8th to 15th. We had an accident prevention week a couple of years ago, during which men made speeches in the schools, the theatres and other public assemblies, stressing the need of care on the avoidance of accidents. What was the result? A marked increase in the number of accidents. Let us hope that fire prevention week will be more successful. A real effort is needed throughout the community to prevent carelessness which is the main cause, both of fires and accidents.

Massachusetts republicans rejoiced at the victory of Speaker Gillett in his contest for the senatorial nomination and allowed that it was because of his intimate relations with President Coolidge that he won such a victory. The Coolidge influence, however, did not save the day in Michigan, where Senator Coughens, who is persona non grata with the administration, won a signal victory.

John W. Davis made a serious mistake in allowing himself to be photographed in a golf suit with the usual knicker. The picture in this paper is being exhibited by republicans, side by side with that of President Coolidge in overalls pitching hay on his father's farm. Davis, however, is not a poseur and is not trying to deceive the farmers or anybody else.

A Thought

A noble soul has no other merit than to be a noble soul.—Schiller.

Not Much of a Place

"Travelled" said a sailor in a train to a passenger who had questioned him, "I should think I've been all round the world; over and under it, too. There ain't many ports I don't know the inside of." "Why, you must know a lot about geography," said the passenger. "Yes, I did put in there once, but only to catch the ship. I ain't much of a place, what I'm in of it."

Where She Was Going

The farmer's pink checked daughter was coming up the lane. She was clad in a grimy pair of overalls, from the pockets of which bulged bunches of waste and sundry wrenches and pliers. In her hand was a dirty enticed rattling with an assortment of iron tools. "Where are you going, my pretty maid?" I asked. "I'm going a milkin', sir," she said. "But why the tools?" "Well," she said, "with that darned old milking machine again."—Life.

Wanted to Be Held

Two members of a legislature got into an argument about little or nothing and the debate waxed vigorous. Starting with unparliamentary language they soon began to exchange violent threats. An immediate clamor was set up for the sergeant-at-arms, and eventually that functionary summoned in. "Separate 'em," urged one member. "Separate 'em," said the other. "Ain't they 40 feet apart?" "But they are shaking fists," "Aw, these just gestures," said the sergeant-at-arms as he bit off a fresh check.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Sheik's Impressions

A powerful tribal ruler from the Sudan made the grand tour of America last year. He saw skyscrapers, dynamos, subways, airplanes and took in baseball as well as grand opera. All this without batting an eyelash. His face had been so impassive throughout the entire trip that one of the officials, detailed as an escort, took aside the Sudanese secretary and assured that functionary to acknowledge what he had impressed the sheik most. Without hesitation the secretary admitted: "The ice cream cone."

Successful Exhibition

The famous ventriloquist, Arthur Prince, was once asked to give a specimen of his art at an open charity bazaar. So he took his stand beneath a big chestnut tree and peering up into the branches called out: "Young man, what are you doing up there?" "Nothin' mister," faltered a childish voice. "I just climbed up here to see the show." Mr. Prince was amazed, for, of course, he hadn't the slightest idea that anyone was up the tree. But he was equal to the occasion. He waited for the applicant to cease and then said: "Will you behave yourself, sonny, if I let you stay up there?" "O, yes, sir," said a frightened voice. "More loud applause." "Well, stay there, then, but hold tight." "Yes, sir, I will." Renewed applause. "Don't fall." "No, sir." "The Mr. Prince turned and bowed to the audience. It was the most successful exhibition of his career.

You May Count That Day

If you sit down at set of sun, And count the acts that you have done, One self-denying deed, one word That eased the heart of him who heard— One glance, most kind, That lit like sunshine where it went— Then you may count that day well spent. But if, through all the livelong day, You've cheered no heart, by yea or nay— If through it all You've nothing done that you can trace That brought the sunshine to one face— No act most small That helped some soul and nothing cost— Then count that day as worse than lost. —GEORGE ELIOT.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Met an interesting character Sunday in the person of Rev. Bro. Gilbert C. F.N. of St. John's preparatory school in Danvers. Bro. Gilbert is one of the most enthusiastic sporting men I have yet had the pleasure of talking with. In the course of his conversation, he took occasion to remark that Rev. Bro. Herman, C.F.N., now stationed at St. Patrick's Boys' school in this city, should be given most of the credit for "finding" Babe Ruth, baseball's biggest idol. It happened, he said, while Ruth was a pupil and Brother Herman a teacher at St. Mary's industrial school in Baltimore. Mr. Bro. Herman directed Bro. Gilbert's attention to the famous star and in due time he was exhorting in the pithy box and the first base position for the Baltimore Orioles. Bro. Gilbert incidentally spent several weeks with the Baltimore club the past season as the guest of a life-long friend, Jack Dunn, the manager and owner.

With high school students firmly backing the school football squad this year, Sub Master James F. Conway in charge of athletics is urging the students to go out and get the general public interested. Mr. Conway believes football can be made as popular here as in Lawrence and Haverhill and hopes that every home game this year will draw a crowd such as attended the Lawrence-Lowell game at Alumni field last Thanksgiving. The attendance at local games prior to last Thanksgiving was disgraceful and there will be no reason for any recurrence of this year, for the school will have a first class squad on the gridiron—and the squad will do a great deal better work if there is a large attendance cheering for the honor of Lowell high.

Did you ever play "follow the leader"? Republicans played it to a farewell in Liberty hall Saturday night when after the nomination of Walter Newton in the Eighth congressional district, the six other candidates hastened to follow one another in pledging support to the accepted and elected candidate. One candidate had left the hall for a moment and his friends hastened to pull him back to get "in the Lowell members have welcomed the call to assemble in October at a rally to be held in Boston. The first fall directors' meeting will be held Sept. 16, at 4 p. m., in Boston headquarters. Several matters of importance, including programs for the 1925 campaign, will come up for consideration at this meeting.

The exchange members are doing their part toward the celebration of New England week, by having two picturesque and very interesting window displays in various cities in six states. Active members are also advertising individually in the good cause.

AMERICANS IN NO DANGER IN SHANGHAI

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—While there is no disposition among either state or navy department officials to neglect precautions for the protection of American lives and property in the vicinity of Shanghai, China, those who are familiar with conditions there feel no anxiety concerning the safety of the foreign city of Shanghai.

This is not to say that foreigners may not suffer property losses in the outlying districts if fighting breaks out between the forces of the northern and southern Chinese. That foreigners' lives will be endangered, however, except possibly through accident, is considered very unlikely.

Irresponsible brigades might not be so safe under the hands of several regular troops, but the forces which are threatening now to clash are regularly organized armies and their leaders are perfectly aware that they could defeat their own ends by permitting violence to Americans or Europeans, since the offending side would find foreign troops allied against it, as an immediate sequel to any such development.

Another foreign city of Shanghai is a compact settlement, strongly policed and further protected by the International Volunteers.

In addition to this the city is directly under the guns of several cruisers, kept always in the Whang-poo River directly off the "bund" or waterfront.

These vessels, though mostly obsolete from a naval expert's standpoint, are equal, any one of them, to dealing with the entire Chinese navy or to holding back almost any number of Chinese, on the land side, within range of their batteries.

The native city, while directly adjoining the foreign settlement, nevertheless is quite distinct from it and might be subjected to the same peril to the settlement. If artillery were used there would perhaps be danger from chance shots across the line, but the native city wall would be sufficient to protect the city.

The cutting of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad does, however, interfere with foreign trade from small arms fire, and the Chinese commanders, if they do employ heavier guns, unquestionably will be careful to avoid pointing them in the settlement's direction.

In fact, there have been considerable battles in the native city in the past without the disturbing of the tranquility of life outside the walls.

The cutting of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad does, however, interfere with foreign trade from small arms fire, and the Chinese commanders, if they do employ heavier guns, unquestionably will be careful to avoid pointing them in the settlement's direction.

FOX FATALLY WOUNDED BY AUTOMOBILE

Archie Rinon, of 13 Common street unintentionally went fox-hunting a few days ago and bagged one animal. Mr. Rinon was driving an automobile between Fitchburg and Ayer one evening recently when a young fox broke from the bushes that lined the road. The animal was evidently confused and bewildered by the glare of the automobile head-lights and despite Mr. Rinon's attempts to avoid hitting him he was run down and had a leg broken.

A veterinary examined the injured member and advised that the animal be killed. Mr. Baker of the Lowell Humane society did the killing.

Ham and—

Hal Cochran's Daily Poem

An appetite really a right funny thing; it affects everybody the same. For various dishes a longing 'twill bring; then again it will likely go lame.

You're wishing for this and you're wishing for that 'cause your palate just tells you to do it. You order queer dishes just based on your wishes and then you will gladly go to it.

A man will eat pork chops for many a day 'cause his pork choppy appetite's fired. And then all desire for them passes away when of pork chops he finally gets tired.

It seems it's this way with the food that's in range in the restaurant menus each noon. You eat of one thing; then you suddenly change as the one thing seems way out of tune.

There's just one exception that comes to my mind and it's ham, for in every day rations, the ham on the menus, you always will find, carries with it such good combinations.

TAKE PICTURES OF CITY FROM AIRPLANE

Chamber of commerce directors have approved the suggestion that pictures of the city be taken from an airplane which will come to Lowell within a week. A view of the entire landscape from above will first be taken. Four other pictures, showing definite sections of Lowell, will also be snapped by the photographer riding in the air-plane.

Five new members were added to the ranks of the chamber of commerce yesterday. The directors adopted the U. S. chamber of commerce principles of business conduct. The directors granted authority for the appointment of a committee to handle the proposed Lowell centennial celebration.

It was announced that a representative of the Hockensbury system, builders of modern hotels, will come to Lowell soon to discuss the matter of Lowell's new hotel.

LEGION PLANS FALL AND WINTER ACTIVITIES

Activities for the fall and winter season were planned at a well-attended meeting of Lowell Post 37, American Legion, held in the veterans' wing of the Memorial Auditorium last evening.

Commander Collis U. Macdonald presided at the meeting and at his request a vote of thanks was voted all who aided in the defense day celebration. Joseph M. Dinneen, treasurer, reported on the financial condition of the post.

It was voted to hold the annual Armistice ball on Tuesday, Nov. 11, in the near future to conduct this event. It was also voted to dedicate various squares in Centralville in October.

A committee consisting of James R. Conway, John J. Walsh and Michael H. Harrington was named to consider the advisability of giving a prize cup to the winner of the annual high school regiment individual prize drill.

The post voted to grant the use of the quarters to the Sixty Regiment Association on Oct. 25 for its annual reunion. It was also voted to invite the Women's auxiliary of the post to the entertainment which a special committee will give.

The following were named as a hospital visiting committee: Cornelius Buckley, chairman; William McKean and Cornelius Barnes.

DR. DRURY COMMENDED FOR HIS SERVICES

The services of Dr. John N. Drury at the isolation hospital, from which duty he was relieved by a vote of the board of health last week, were commended in a resolution introduced by Elmer H. Pearson and voted by the board yesterday.

Another feature of yesterday's meeting was the receipt of the following letter from Councilor Joseph A. N. Christen, upon which no action was taken except to place it on file:

Dr. Francis R. Mahony, Chairman, Board of Health, Gentlemen:

There is a rumor about abolishing the salary of the superintendent of nurses at the Lowell isolation hospital. This action on your part would affect Mrs. Smith, who is now acting as superintendent of nurses.

This position always existed, but without salary. The salary commission of 1922 decided to establish a salary for that position. The committee at the time thought it was only fair that she should receive compensation for her work. This action was approved by the whole body in special session. I, for one, do not approve taking away her compensation.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH A. N. CHRISTEN.

All members of the board were present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Dr. Francis R. Mahony at 4:30 o'clock.

The following resolution to commend Dr. Drury for his services at the isolation hospital was introduced by Elmer H. Pearson:

"The members of the board of health desire to commend Dr. John N. Drury for his efficient and conscientious work in attending the patients at the Lowell isolation hospital during the illness of the superintendent."

The motion was introduced, said Mr. Pearson, "to clear the air of suspicion," and was accepted unanimously.

A license to conduct a boarding house for infants was voted Mrs. Leopoldine Decelle, 537 Lakeview avenue. Max Goldstein's application for a permit to sell denatured alcohol was refused.

A heavy increase of garbage collections over last year was reported and the board voted to increase its collecting teams from nine to eleven and to hire additional men. Last week 163 loads of garbage were collected, compared to 120 one year ago.

LA FOLLETTE TO MAKE EXTENDED TOUR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Although the speech-making plans of Senator La Follette for the campaign have not been disclosed even in tentative form, aside from his engagement to deliver an address in Madison Square Garden, New York city, Thursday night, his friends here now expect him to start out on an extended stumping tour by Oct. 1.

Wheeler at Pittsburgh
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential nominee on the independent ticket, left New York city last night for the final lap of a stumping tour that will take him into every region of the United States where organization managers of the new political enterprise think they have prospect of success.

The first stop for a speech late tonight will be Pittsburgh.

Thereafter, the Montana man is booked for five speeches in principal Ohio cities and addresses worked up during recent days indicated that his intention is to discuss the administration of former Attorney General Daugherty at considerable length before citizens of Mr. Daugherty's state. Somewhat the same policy will be adopted at his speaking dates in Illinois, which begins with Chicago on Sept. 20, except that General Dawes, republican vice presidential nominee, will be the target of criticism.

SALEM LAWYER TO WED PRETTY SHOE WORKER

Felton, who is 30 years old, was graduated at Harvard in the class of 1916 and three years at Harvard law school. He is practicing law in Boston. Miss Szychoviene, next to the eldest of a family of six children, is of Polish descent. She is employed in a shoe factory in Peabody. Her father, Joseph Szychoviene, was formerly employed in a Salem shoe factory, but is at present engaged in the manufacture of children's shoes in Lynn.

Members of the Felton family said today that the date for the wedding had not been set, but would be announced soon.

Chesterford citizens have erected a granite marker on the spot where the first town meeting was held. A committee was chosen at the last town meeting to mark historic spots. The memorial erected on Fred Russell's land, in what is known as Crosby lane, bears this inscription:

"Near this spot first town meeting in Chesterford held, Nov. 22, 1654."

This land was once a section of the Fletcher estate and the first town meeting was held in William Fletcher's house.

The town committee in charge of the work of locating the marker, included Rev. Wilson Waters, chairman; Stewart MacKay, secretary and treasurer; Joseph E. Warren, John J. Monahan and Henry Shedd.

FRANK CHANCE PASSES AWAY

"Peerless Leader" of National Game, Dies at Los Angeles

Led Cubs to Four National League Pennants—Also Managed Three Others.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, California banker's son, whose brilliant baseball career won him the sobriquet of "peerless leader" of the national game, is dead. He faded quietly into unconsciousness and death at a hospital here last night after a long uphill battle against failing health.

Chance, who led the Chicago Cubs to four national league pennants and two world's series victories and managed at various times the Boston Americans, the New York Americans and the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league, was manager of the Chicago White Sox.

He went east last winter to take over the reins of the Chicago club but became ill with influenza and returned to the coast for a rest. He returned to Chicago in time for the initial game between Chicago and New York. Illness overtook him, however, and in a few weeks he was back in southern California, fighting his battle against overwhelming odds.

At times he seemed to be recovering from the combination of bronchial asthma and heart trouble which clung to him after his attack of influenza and when he celebrated his 47th birthday here a week ago, he appeared to be gaining strength.

Late yesterday, however, he became worse and his physician ordered him taken to a hospital, but he had been there only a short time when he died.

Funeral arrangements are expected to be completed today.

Play Settled Chance $140,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, the "peerless leader," who died last night in Los Angeles, gained part ownership of the team he so frequently led to victory through a single play, he once related. The one play netted him $140,000 when his stock in the club soared to that value.

It was in 1906, as Chance told it, and the Chicago Nationals were in second place, fighting for the pennant and with only a few more games to play.

In a hot game at Cincinnati, Chance hit safely and stole second with one out. Joe Tinker, shortstop and then a heavy hitter, was at bat. Everyone expected Tinker to swing heavily. But Chance signaled for a bunt. Tinker laid down a perfect bunt and Chance stroked for third. The "peerless leader" did not stop, but headed for home, sliding in safely.

Next day, Charles F. Taft, then owner of the Cubs, sent for his manager.

"Frank," Chance quoted him as having said, "that was the greatest play I ever saw or ever expect to see. I am going to show you that I appreciate your work and efforts. I am going to let you buy a tenth interest in the club for $10,000."

Chance sold out for $140,000 after he left the club in 1912.

STIRBLING AT 19 IS BOXING VETERAN

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—There are those who believe that Tommy Robson, hard hitting Maiden fighter, will defeat W. L. Young Stribling, 19-year-old Georgian, when the two meet in the Mechanics building ring tonight. Perhaps Thomas will be able to land something devastating on the youngster, but before fans draw final conclusions they must realize that Stribling is not merely a kid boxer. He is a veteran of 15 years' experience in the ring. Yes, he is only 19 years old.

"W. L." as his father calls him, or "Willie," his mother's name for him, could stand on one hand on his father's head when he was 2½ years old. He learned to box soon after and, starting at the age of 8, he fought the United States and 12 foreign countries on the vaudeville stage taking on all comers.

He is no mere natural fighter, though he certainly has natural fighting instincts. He is a trained boxer from childhood. He has learned in his long career the value of scientific defense, and his many free-for-alls with wild-swinging kids has developed his defense against a right hand to a degree unusual in any fighter.

The story of "W. L." in fact, the story of the entire Stribling family is particularly unusual. His father and mother both were stage athletes and during the early youth of "W. L." and his younger brother, they toured with their parents. At the ages of four and six they began supplementing their parents' act with a burlesque boxing match in which the sensational young light heavyweight of today was cast to do a hop under the blows of the smaller boy.

Then came the free-for-alls which brought Stribling face to face with every style of fighting known to boys. He not only fought American boys, but those of the foreign countries in which his parents toured.

One of his victories was over the champion of Shanghai boys' brigade, an organization which corresponds in China to the Boy Scouts in America.

BROTHER OF SEN.
ELKINS DEAD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Blaine Elkins, son of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins and brother of Senator Elkins of West Virginia, is dead. He was 43 years of age and recently suffered an attack of typhoid fever. His widow and son survive him. The body was taken to Elkins, W. Va.

LEGIONNAIRE DAWES AT ST. PAUL CONVENTION

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dividing interest with the annual parade of the American Legion today was the visit of General Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential candidate, who came "solely as a legionnaire" to visit the Legion's national convention.

Despite the insistence of the general and Legion officials that he came as a "legionnaire" Dawes of the Ranston, Ill., post, his visit attracted much attention, especially as he was to review the parade in the afternoon, with National Commander J. R. Quinn.

Business session activities included addresses by Charles P. Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, Ill., post, his visit attracted much attention, especially as he was to review the parade in the afternoon, with National Commander J. R. Quinn.

DAVIS ASSAILS G. O. P. "SPECIAL PRIVILEGE"

EASTWOOD FARM, Bunceton, Mo., Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, spent today resting at the farm home of Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, democratic nominee for governor of Missouri, and working on the address he will deliver at Des Moines Wednesday night. Yesterday Mr. Davis opened the campaign in Missouri with the address here in which he assailed the republican party, "special privilege" and the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, and promised that if elected he would furnish a government "honest through and through, from top to bottom."

Tariff and taxation, it is understood, will form the subjects of the Des Moines address.

PRES. COOLIDGE HOLDS CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Government business held the attention of President Coolidge today with the cabinet meeting in the morning and inter-conference with other governmental officials.

Mr. Coolidge has received many callers during the past week and yesterday who have given him fairly detailed accounts of the political situation in most sections of the country.

On the whole the tone of the day has been reviewed by the White House as exceedingly bright, although they were not so happy as to have seen growing strength for Senator Cole, in the presidential campaign, in several states.

Leading a check-up on these, the president did not outline his program for next month in the way of speeches. He has informed friends, however, that he expects to stick close to his desk during the campaign.

GRANT REQUEST OF EDGEMAKERS' UNION

BROCKTON, Sept. 16.—The executive committee of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association on Monday voted to grant the request of the edgemakers' union and eliminate Oct. 18 as the date from which the new wage list would become effective.

This request was also made by the sole fasteners' local.

$10,000,000 DAMAGE TO OIL PROPERTIES

RICHMOND, Romania, Sept. 16.—Following extended negotiations, the Standard Oil company's Rumanian subsidiary, the "Romano-American," has agreed to pay $10,000,000 damages to its oil properties caused during the German occupation of Rumania. The company expects reimbursement from Germany under the operation of the Dawes plan.

Amusement Notes

Squires. They seem to have their work cut out for them and the audience reaps the benefit.

As an Englishman with drawl and monotonous, Basil Lyon has few superiors and teamed with William Howard the result is directly comical. Much of their act is conversation, but Howard uses a fine value to good effect and then, too, there is comedy galore.

No vaudeville artist to Lowell works any harder to please than Jean Libonati, xylophonist. He travels over the keyboard like lightning and swings from opera to syncopation and back again without a break. Last night's audience called for him long after the lights went out and his work is worthy of such appreciation.

Valley Ward and Ethel Dooley are two youngsters who dance, sing, recite and ride bicycles. Ward does two fine impersonations of Will Rogers and Fred Stone and mixes in a dash of comedy for good measure. It is a clever, conceived act and unusually well played.

The Three Lordons, aerialists, help the program to get away on the right foot by putting on a splendid act to open the show. There is a thrill in every one of their stunts.

The motion picture feature this week is "One Law for the Woman," starring Cullen Landis and Mildred Harris.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

Rudolph Valentino makes his triumphant return to the screen in the role of Monsieur Beaucaire, the hero of Booth Tarkington's story of the same name, now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre. The plot, well woven, complicates the French and English members of the royalty and the scenes incident to the unravelling of the theme are most gorgeous and picturesque.

The story finds its setting in France at the court of Louis XV., who entertains Princess Henriette, recently returned from the convent. Bobo Daniels, haughty, imperious dandy, ignores the efforts of Phillipe, Duke of Orleans, to marry her. Madame de Merteuil, a court musician and entertainer, whom his jealousy has deceived she will marry herself. Madame de Merteuil, a court musician and entertainer, whom his jealousy has deceived she will marry herself.

In England, the duke is met by his friend Molyneux, who obtains for him the position of ambassador in Paris. Lady Mary, the Duke's cousin, is soon the favorite of Monsieur Beaucaire (Duke of Chartres), but he is devoted to his daughter. The duke's courtier's craftiest gambler, Beaucaire, invites Winterest to his rooms where a game of cards is to be played. Winterest is caught in the act of cheating and henceforth he plots for the life of Beaucaire.

An elaborate dinner is planned and it is agreed that Beaucaire shall attend under the assumed name of Duke of Chartres, there to meet Lady Mary and win her hand. Winterest has planned to have a dagger, which he has with the sword, meet the duke in a duel. Confident he will be the victor, Winterest accepts and comes out of the fray victorious. Followed in his triumph, Winterest before Lady Mary and this time, not only after Beaucaire's wounds are met with the sword, but he is wounded. Lady Mary, who only regarded for a man his title, rejects Beaucaire and he is forced to seek refuge in a country farmhouse until he recovers. The evening of the general assembly arrives and Beaucaire presents himself and is again treated coldly by Lady Mary. At that moment a message comes from King Louis and Madame Pompadour that Chartres must return and relieve the court of boredom. A fitting and pleasing climax to one of the most elaborate pictures ever screened.

The scenes are magnificent in every detail, the costumes gorgeous and the plot interesting, making it a treat for the premier photoplay of the season.

son, with Rudolph Valentino, Bobo Daniels, Paulette Goddard, Doris Kenyon, Lois Wilson and Lowell Sherman as the leading players.

These theatricals Weekly showing pictures of the World Wars and their welcome home, together with a comedy, complete the week's bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

William Farnum scored one of the most successful successes of his career in "Wolves of the Night," the gripping, romantically tender William Fox production shown at Lowell's Rialto yesterday and where it can be seen today in its entirety. Those who saw "Farnum" in this picture yesterday emphatically state that it is the greatest role in which he has ever appeared under the William Fox banner.

As a young mining engineer, newly wed, Farnum falls victim to a ruthless pack of human wolves of high finance, namely, Hawn, Mortimer and Garson. These three unscrupulous rascals, who have a mine next to Farnum's, persuade the latter that his mine is worthless and get him to take a position that will send him to South America. They return to him that it would be dangerous to take his wife along as the change in climate would effect her health. Unaware of the motives of these three men, Farnum leaves his wife and ranch and departs for South America. No sooner had the train which bore him gone from sight than the crooked "triumvirate" started operation. They return to him that it would be dangerous to take his wife along as the change in climate would effect her health. Unaware of the motives of these three men, Farnum leaves his wife and ranch and departs for South America. No sooner had the train which bore him gone from sight than the crooked "triumvirate" started operation.

Meanwhile Farnum at work in a mine in Chile, is exploded at the bottom of it, when a gas explosion occurs. He loses his reason and is reported as dead by the American consul. Five years elapse, and Mortimer, in love with Farnum's wife, induces her to wed him.

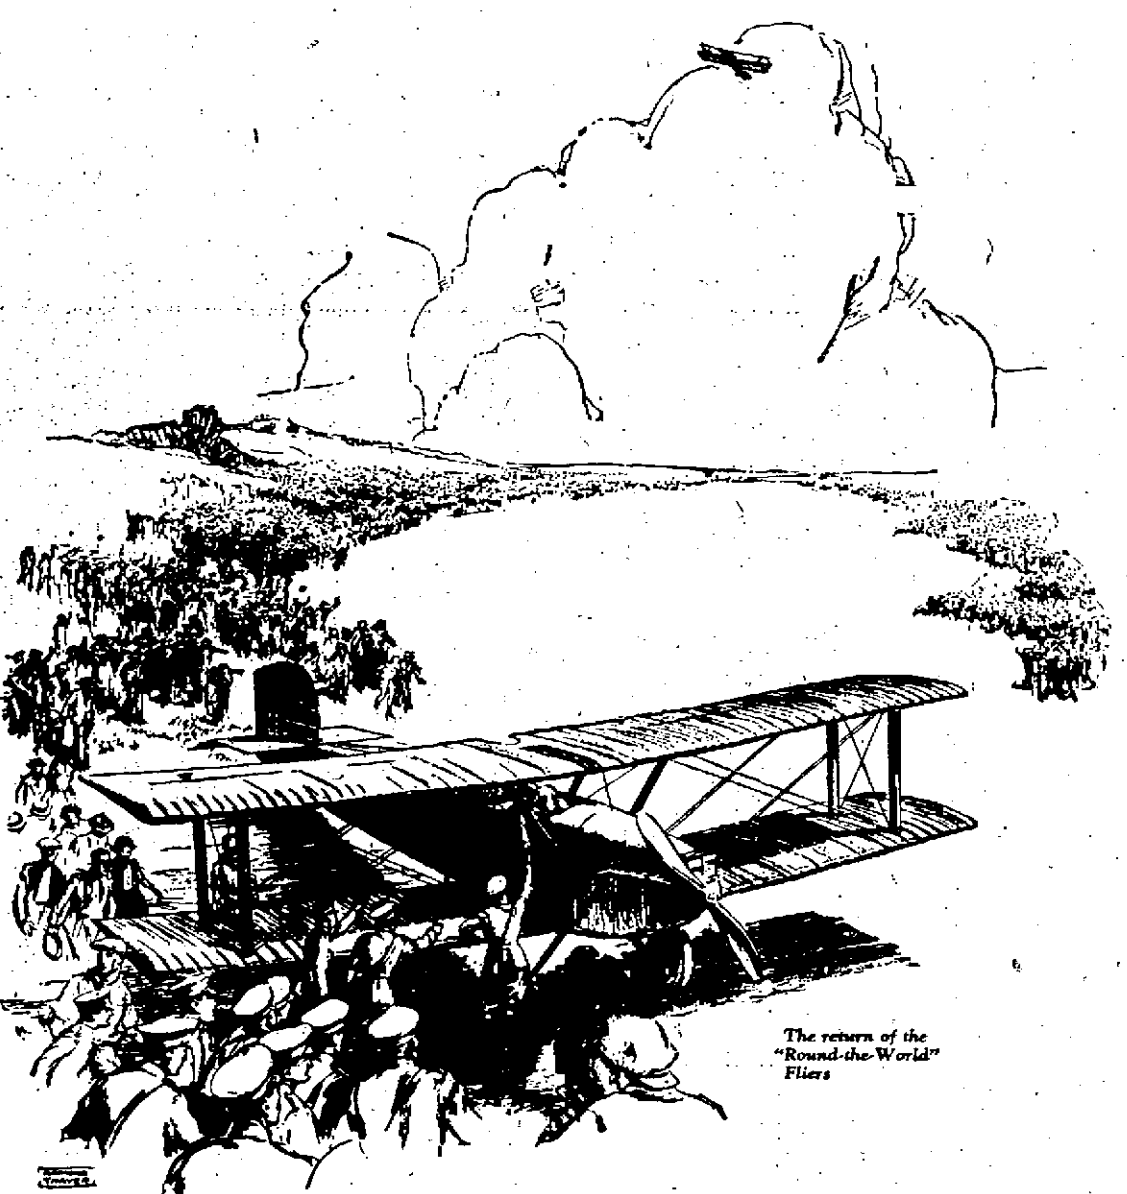

Regarding his reason and physical health under the kindly care of a native girl, Farnum returns and finds his wife, ranch and fortune gone. He is about to return to his native land in order that his wife may have to suffer with him in poverty, when he learns of the treachery of the "triumvirate." He breaks into their office, and in the scuffle, gives them a lesson that they will long have reason to remember. In the midst of the fight, Isabel, his wife, enters. Farnum stops, for ward and wife are in his arms, reclaiming her as a shot is heard in an adjoining room. Mortimer has shot himself. Husband and wife are again reunited.

As can be seen by the above plot, the story is a mighty dramatic and interesting one. Farnum has surrounded himself with a cast of splendid players among whom are Frank Mayo, Nick, Louis, and Charles Clary.

The companion feature is "Does It Pay?" with Hope Hampton. Miss Hampton is seen in the role of a "gold-digger." The picture is a "gold-digger" old millionaire husbands from their wives. She does this once too often—and then see what happens.

A center company and Fox News conclude the program.

Back Jones in "The Desert Outlaw," a first run Fox picture, and "The Girl in the Lambroni," from Gene Stratton Porter's story, are the attractions for the latter half of the week starting Thursday.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 1

The sun was just starting to peek through the jungle when Jack Daw, who was camping in a jungle open space with the captain and two sailors of the good ship Betsy Claire, woke up. A fire was blazing right out in front of the little adventurer and the main native guide was throwing fresh sticks on it.

"Did you make that fire this morning?" asked Jack. "Oh, no," replied the guide. "This blaze has been burning all night. If we had let it go out some of the jungle wild animals might have attacked us." And then Jack told the guide to lie down and snooze while he kept the fire going.

Of course, when Jack woke up Flip and Flop jumped up with him. When the little adventurer started throwing sticks on the big blaze Flop ran around and gathered up more firewood. Flip felt that he needed some exercise so he ran around barking at little birds that were in nearby trees. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
By Olive Roberts Barton

NICE SHOES YOU SELL, MISTER SNIP. SNIP! SHE SAID FINALLY. "Say, Mister Snip. Snap," said Nancy one morning, "school opened today, so I don't suppose we need to keep our store open any more, do we?" "Hey! What's that, what's that?" cried the little fairytale in surprise. "What did you say about not keeping the store open any more?" "I just said," repeated Nancy, "that the Meadow Grove school opened today, because Nick and I saw Mister Scribble Scratch, the schoolmaster, dusting off the seats as we passed. He said he was going to ring the first bell at half past eight because it always took Mosey Mud Turtle a whole half hour to get there, and as it was he supposed he'd be late."

"Just so," nodded Mister Snip Snap, "but what has that got to do with closing our store, I'd like to know?" "Everybody is all fixed for school clothes," said Nick. "There isn't anybody left to sell things to."

"I declare!" cried Mister Snip Snap. "I declare to goodness, the schoolmaster, dusting off the seats as we passed. He said he was going to ring the first bell at half past eight because it always took Mosey Mud Turtle a whole half hour to get there, and as it was he supposed he'd be late."

IN NEW YORK

BY STEPHEN LANNIGAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Willard Huntington Wright, an author who writes of the latest happenings in New York hasn't been out of his quarters in an uptown hotel for more than a year. He is ill.

Yet, each day he keeps in complete touch with the world that swirls about him. It would seem he would be dependent on numerous friends to supply him with latest foibles of a fickle New York public. But he isn't.

His only human contacts are bell-boys, waiters, chambermaids and an assistant manager of the hotel in which he lives. He refuses to see all others and is consistently emphatic in his refusal to make new friends. He is married but his wife and child live in California.

Wright reads every newspaper, and practically every magazine, and reads the publication in the fashion he refreshes his mind with the world's doings.

Although he has not attended a theatre or concert in many months he is familiar with all current music through a talking machine. He owns and plays all the phonograph records.

Systematically efficient in everything he does, Wright works many hours a day. Just now he is in the midst of three novels, I am told. Two of them deal with highly technical subjects and the third, a mystery story, is being sandwiched between them.

Wright was born in California and is described as having a most pleasing personality and enthusiastic outlook despite his year's imprisonment because of his health.

A man came out of the West to conquer New York. Starting with a one-room ship shop not so many years ago his plans now occupy two city blocks in Chicago, his home.

John F. Cunee is the man. He is the son of a wealthy wholesaler fruit merchant—but he worked out his own business salvation.

He prints 20,000,000 magazines each month, not to mention books and the catalogue of a large mail order house. Cunee, regarded as the biggest individual periodical publisher in the world is only 38 years old.

He is blond and good natured, possessed of the most disarming smile you ever saw, and is single.

The many little soft drink places—perfectly legitimate shops—that have followed in the wake of prohibition, have stolen a trick from the old corner saloon.

Mike is forced into a glass with air, when you call for a thirst-quenching goblet of the cow's famous product, and it bubbles and foams, like the four per cent beer of yesterday.

If you let it settle a moment the air bubbles out and you have an inch less milk to drink.

It took two doctors two hours to get a quart of a dollar away from William Mend, 10. He swallowed the quart. They conducted the operation.

are worn out. I'll just send Cutie in after school and you can see for yourself.

With that the rabbit lady walked out before anybody could say another word. And this time she looked as cross as though she'd lost two freckles of ice cream.

THE CARE OF THE FEET

"After a day of considerable walking and the feet become tired or inflamed, bath them in hot antiseptic solution for 15 or 20 minutes." Mr. Man was advised when his feet were troubling him.

"When the feet have been dried excrecences and calluses can be rubbed off with a coarse towel."

"After this thoroughly massage the feet, using some healing foot lotion. An antiseptic solution can be used if the skin is naturally moist or soft."

There is not a great deal to be done for perspiring feet unless it is so excessively as to become annoying.

The best day-in-and-day-out treatment is a good bath in antiseptic and antiseptic solutions. Frequent changes of stockings in which foot powder has been scattered is about the best home treatment.

Cold and clammy feet must be blamed on the general physical condition and not the feet themselves.

ELIMINATION OF WAR

Important Progress Made

Says Pres. Coolidge In
Message to Legion

"God Bless You All," Said

Cablegram of Greeting
From Cardinal Mercier

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—Highly important progress has been made toward elimination of war from the world, President Coolidge declared in a letter of greeting read to the American Legion convention yesterday.

The president's communication, expressing regret that he could not attend, praised the part played by Legionnaires both in war and in peace, "a record of unselfish readiness to serve."

"The heavy drafts upon the loyalty and patriotism of those able to defend this country," the president said, "always have been gloriously met, but the meeting of them has brought suffering and tragedy beyond all accounting."

"It has represented a burden that must not again be laid upon the young manhood of the nation, save in circumstances which make it absolutely unavoidable."

The thought of the world turns increasingly toward peace, its preservation and perpetuation, I am glad to say to the Legion that this thought is more and more finding leadership and direction.

"We are justified as never before in the hope for great accomplishments through the co-operation of the nations in the ways of peace. Highly important progress is making along the road which leads to the elimination of war from this world."

Responding to addresses of welcome in behalf of Commander Quinn, Thomas T. Williams, Jr., of the Boston Transcript, urged opposition to "attempts by any clerical bloc, in the name of the church, to meddle with the business of the state."

"Universality with which Defense Day was observed," he said, "attests the righteous indignation of the American people at the attempt of an autocracy of the cloth to set up in this country a government by clerical bloc."

The opening session presented a colorful setting, pictures, caps and other aids of the several thousand delegates forming a patch quilt effect.

Commander Quinn was given an ovation when he conducted his address, and a similar demonstration was given Mrs. Bishop, national president of the Legion, when she presented.

"God bless you all," said a cablegram of greeting from Cardinal Mercier of Belgium.

Dr. Charles A. Leuder, sounding the greetings of the G.A.H., said the Legion had earned the right to succeed to all that in the past has contributed to the founding of American institutions.

WHY YOU NEED A TONIC IN THE FALL

During the summer months many people do not eat the energy building foods which their systems require, and with the increase of activities in the fall they are using up more tissue than the food which they eat replaces, so that they quickly get thin and run down and find that they get tired easily or catch cold frequently. It is to rebuild their exhausted strength and energy.

The logical food tonic for just this condition is Father John's Medicine which is based upon a number of food elements which have been accepted by doctors for many years as those best suited to rebuilding strength and health. These food elements in Father John's Medicine are so prepared that the stomach easily takes them up and turns them into new tissue, new energy, strength and health. That is why Father John's Medicine is known as the greatest of all food tonics.

More than sixty-nine years ago in the treatment of indigestion, constipation, nervousness, and similar ailments, it has been found that it is the best of all food tonics in any form. Adv.

John J. Herlihy pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sent to the state farm, a suspended sentence being revoked.

Peter Pacowicz pleaded guilty to operating an automobile without a license and was fined $5.

R. I. COLLEGE OPENS ON BORROWED MONEY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 16.—The Rhode Island State college at Kingston will open tomorrow on money loaned by the Aquidneck National bank of Newport, which will continue to advance the necessary funds for the support of the college until the general assembly can pass the annual appropriation bill now held up by the democratic filibuster in the senate. In order to keep down the expense, the entering class has been limited to 100. The expenses of the last few weeks of the 1923-24 college year were met by several of the trustees, who advanced the money from their private fortunes. But none of the trustees are wealthy enough to continue this plan for a whole college year and for a time there was some uncertainty about opening the college at the usual time.

The Newport bank, however, has promised its aid until the large amount of money the state has in the banks here is released by the passage by the senate of the regular appropriation bill which is usually acted upon by both branches early in the year.

FIRE IN WALL PAPER COMPANY'S PLANT

A fire in the City Wall Paper company's store at 309 Alder street last evening slightly damaged the basement and the wall paper stock in the store was damaged to some extent by smoke. The fire was discovered and an alarm sounded from box 218 at 10:45 o'clock. The blaze originated in rubbish under a stairway and was confined to the section in which it started. The fire was extinguished at 11:10 o'clock.

The store is owned by Nakoma Haeck of 131 School street, who has been caring for his farm in Connecticut during the past several weeks. Mrs. Haeck has been in charge of the store during his absence and was the last to leave the store last night, locking up at 9:30 o'clock when she said everything was apparently all right.

A carelessly thrown cigarette is believed by District Chief Sullivan to have been the cause of the fire.

LOWELL BOY WILL GO TO HAWAII

Lajolo passed all physical tests required by the recruiting office and was assigned to duty at the Honolulu Barracks, Hawaii. This is Mr. Lajolo's first enlistment.

Until last Wednesday all stations of the Army Recruiting office were instructed to accept only re-enlistments for any division of the service. Wednesday Sergeant Timothy Kilball of the Lowell station, however, agreed to accept first enlistments of a limited number of men. This was the first time in several months that the restrictions were lifted. As things stand now, a man physically and morally fit may join the army.

MacMillan Back

last night, the civic authorities who had planned to welcome the returning explorer were taken by surprise. But Mayor James MacMillan, who had his automobile in the docks, commandeered the nearest rowboat, and was the first man aboard to welcome MacMillan and his companions to Canada. MacMillan greeted the mayor with the announcement that in spite of his recent trip of 15 months and the fact that he had spent the greater part of the last 15 years in the Arctic regions, he would be back at this port next June outward bound for the Polar regions.

When asked what he most appreciated as he neared civilization this summer, MacMillan said "It was a nice treat Canadian apple that the captain gave me at Battle Harbor; he had a barrel of them and the smell of those apples got me."

From the apries, the explorer let his memory wander back over incidents and experiences of the present voyage. "The Eskimo fappers haven't hobbled their hair yet; but they like to smoke cigars. They used to have trouble finding enough girls to go around, but this year for some reason there is a small surplus and a number of unmarried young women—very unusual conditions among the Polar Eskimos."

"The boys didn't get lonesome during the winter. We had chess, checkers and all sort of games—there was one-pung-chow set—they were all crazy about that."

"My first meal ashore this trip was dinner with Gov. Simony at Gottaah in Greenland. The place was so resistant there was reindeer meat with fresh eggs as an added delicacy."

"Then Gov. Nelson at Holstenberg invited me ashore for a dinner of pounded duck breast, and I had tea with Gov. and Mrs. Lindow at Diska."

Radio Worked Well

MacMillan said that the Bowdoin's radio worked well. It was the first trip of eight, he said, in which he was able to send and receive messages to and from his family and friends. The ship's station sent about 34,000 words of messages and received about 100,000 words of messages in return.

About 20,000 feet of motion pictures were taken along and shown to the Eskimos, he said, including several reels taken on the voyage of 1917. The natives stood spellbound on the ship as they saw friends and relatives, some of them long since dead, brought back to life and motion by the white man's magic machine.

The interpreter told of their expressions of wonder at such spectacle as the firing of a broadside by an American battleship, but MacMillan said that he had to rely entirely on the interpreter in such matters.

MacMillan told of a hunting trip of 1000 miles by dog team to Ellesmere land. Another member of the party penetrated to the great Humboldt glacier, the world's greatest glacier. He was reticent as to his scientific discoveries and observations, but intimated that previous indications that glaciers were melting and not retreating were confirmed by the present trip. Glaciers which in the memory of Eskimos now living had not reached the sea were now at the seashore and were "calving"—breaking off into icebergs—regularly. This phenomenon, he said, should mean an increased number of icebergs in the Arctic current off the coast of Newfoundland.

Coming back to Radio, Dr. MacMillan noted that the chief radio phenomenon was that communication was practically impossible with all eastern stations, although Annapolis, Md., was heard faintly at times. Stations on the Pacific coast were plainly heard and the one station that could be depended

TWO VESSELS COLLIDE, CAPTAIN DIES OF SHOCK

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—When his vessel collided with another steamer in the thick fog that blanketed Boston harbor early today, Captain Charles J. Bloomquist of the ferryboat Newton, of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad service, collapsed and died. Physicians said that death was due to the sudden shock. He was 50 years old and lived at Winthrop.

The Newton, feeling her way across the harbor to East Boston, collided with a sister ship, the Ashburnham, just outside the ferry slip on the east shore. Twenty feet of the port rail of the Ashburnham were torn off but none of the passengers were injured. On her next trip over from Boston the Ashburnham ran into the fishing schooner Commonwealth outside the fish pier. This time the paddle wheel of the ferryboat was damaged and she was withdrawn from the service for repairs.

upon at all times was one, at Prince Rupert operated by an amateur named Barnsley.

Discovery of White Indians

The question for science, MacMillan said, is why stations in the northwest can converse clearly with the Bowdoin while the nearer and more powerful Cape Breton stations fail to get through. He said that he had heard by radio of the discovery of "white Indians" in Alaska. They are Eskimos, he declared, of "white Eskimos. I've seen lots of them. They only mean that some other white men have been there ahead of you—they're half breeds."

The Bowdoin brings back in addition to much scientific data in the fields of geology, meteorology and ornithology, a great variety of furs, Eskimo canoes, arms and carved ivory. She also carries a pair of young blue foxes, three full grown dogs, and a half dozen puppies and many specimens of the fauna and flora of the Arctic regions.

Four Eskimos accompanied the explorer on the explorations together with seven dogs. They were picked up at various points in the way north and dropped again on the way back. An interesting dig among the natives was Took-a-Suk, who was Dr. Cook's guide. Captain MacMillan said that Cook is well remembered by the natives who, he said, laugh at his claims, declaring that he spent the winter on a small island, 500 miles south of the North pole.

Referring to his precaution made in 1922 that the Labrador gold rush would fail, MacMillan told of meeting one group of explorers, heavily bearded, who had sworn not to shave until they had found gold.

The Bowdoin is in first-class condition except that a plank in the bottom was broken in when she was thrown on the rocks while the crew was working and breaking their way out of Refuge Harbor on the start of the trip south. She is taking no water, however, and slight repairs will put her into as good condition as on her previous voyage. The little schooner has proved herself practically impregnable. MacMillan declared, running full tilt into a berg on the way northward without suffering any damage.

Royal Welcome at Wiscasset

WISCASSET, Me., Sept. 16.—Captain Donald H. MacMillan who arrived at Sydney, N. S., last night after a hard trip across the Gulf of St. Lawrence from the Newfoundland coast, expects to reach here Saturday afternoon as he had planned. In a radio message he reported the weather as clear and that he would leave Sydney today.

Hiram P. Maxim, president of the American Radio Relay league, responded to a personal tribute to him from Capt. MacMillan, who stressed the value of the radio to Arctic explorers. Mr. Maxim's message sent early today by radio from station 1-MO, read:

"Congratulations to you and your gallant crew on getting clear of the ice. Keep the prow of the little Bowdoin pointed south from now on. A royal welcome awaits you when you dock at Wiscasset. We will all be there."

Last year's registration of 13,142 was divided as follows: High school, 2245; junior high, 2051; grammar, 3293; primary, 4275; kindergarten, 516.

The enrollment in the junior high schools is as follows: Bartlett, 645; Butler, 431; Morey, 764; Varnum, 424; and Moody, 159.
